CLOUDBURST WIPES OUT DAM; RESIDENTS FLEE

Livestock Drowns As Valley Swept By Flood Waters

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 6.—Littlefield dam in Arizona, about 100 miles from Las Vegas, went out last night under pressure of a cloudburst in the mountains, according to reports received here today.

No lives were known to have been lost. Inhabitants had been warned and had time to flee to higher ground. Hundreds of head of livestock were drowned as the waters swept through the valley and covered the valley.

The town of Bunkerville also was reported caught by the cloudburst. All residents, however, escaped to the hills, it was said.

Three deaths have been reported in cloudbursts in California and Nevada. Engineer L. Quinn and an unidentified fireman were killed when a freight train on the Tonopah and Tidewater Railroad went through a washed out bridge near Baker, Calif. Another man was drowned near Milan, Calif., the sheriff's office at El Centro learned.

SON, 42, KILLS FATHER, 74, AS ELDER TRIED TO PUNISH HIM

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Aug. 6.—The curse of murder that runs in the blood of the giant members of the Kent family has broken out again—this time over whether a 74-year-old man has the right to spank a 42-year-old son.

George Kent, 42, sat in the county jail at Newfane last night and confessed he killed his father who despised his extreme age was known as the strongest man in the village of Gratton.

It was the third murder in the family in seventeen years and the second case of patricide.

Llewellyn Kent, the father, died last night.

"He was always beating me up," the younger Kent said. "I was always afraid of him. He was ugly. The old man thought he could keep on licking me just the same as he always did when I was a boy."

The quarrel between father and son started over the disappearance of a few eggs from the former's chicken coop.

Llewellyn Kent charged his daughter-in-law with stealing the eggs. During the argument George Kent entered the farmhouse where they all lived.

Llewellyn Kent told his son to leave the farm and never come back, according to witnesses.

George Kent said his father then attempted to beat him and that he ran into another room and got a .25-caliber pistol. They scuffled and witnesses said George pulled the trigger three times, the first bullet going wild and the second and third striking Llewellyn Kent in the head.

A brother of the dead man was killed in Wardsboro, Vt., a few years ago by his son, Fred Kent, who stabbed his father to death with a fish spear.

A son of Llewellyn Kent was hanged for the murder of Della Gorton, whom he choked to death with a meat cleaver at Wallingford, Vt.

Kent, when arraigned, pleaded not guilty and waived examination and reading of the complaint. He was held without bail for trial.

Kent seemed unperturbed over the killing. Rather, jail officials said, he continued to express his resentment at his father's treatment of him.

Llewellyn and George Kent were seen through a window, crapping in the kitchen, by Fred Prouty and Guy Blood, who were driving past the Kent home. Prouty and Blood said they heard loud voices. They continued on until they heard three shots.

When they reached the Kent house, George was standing on the front porch, leaning against a post, the revolver still in his hand.

"I've just killed the old man," the two men said they were informed by George Kent.

MAC DONALD WILL CONFER WITH DAWES

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, who last week left for his home, Lissie, Scotland, for a vacation, returned to London unexpectedly today for an immediate conference with United States Ambassador Dawes.

As he stepped off his train from Lissie, the prime minister declared: "I came to London to see Dawes. I expect to see him today."

THOUGHT MORE OF
OFFICE THAN HOME

RENO, Nev., Aug. 6.—Testimony in the divorce of Florence Pittman Gifford from Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., was made public today after Mrs. Gifford had been granted a decree at a closed court session.

Gifford's complaint and testimony charged Gifford was so wrapped up with the commercial success of the corporation of which he is head that he was unmindful of his wife and of his home.

EXPLOSION WRECKS
YOUNGSTOWN HOUSE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 6.—A mysterious explosion wrecked a two-story frame dwelling here today. No one was injured.

The blast was so terrific that nearby residents were thrown from their beds.

Examination of the debris revealed a five gallon gasoline can which police believe was intentionally fused and ignited.

Police are seeking the owner of the structure.

CRUSHED BY TREE
LANCASTER, O., Aug. 6.—William Tump, 61, Rockridge, was in a serious condition today from injuries suffered when a tree he was chopping down, fell on him.

DETROIT ENGINEER WILL REVEAL STORY OF DROWNING CASE

Dry Agent Drowned After Fight On Suspect's Boat

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—John M. Health, Detroit elevator engineer, was to surrender to federal authorities here today to give his version of the presumed drowning in the Detroit River of Federal Prohibition Agent George Sundland.

Meanwhile search for Sundland's body was resumed.

Sundland, a former New York dry agent, disappeared early Saturday shortly after he and another officer attempted to seize the Maxine, a cabin cruiser owned by Health.

Late Monday, while a widespread search was being conducted for the missing agent, Max Finkleton, attorney for Health, notified the district attorney's office here that Health and Sundland fell into the river after a struggle.

The struggle occurred, the attorney said, when the agent, without identifying himself attempted to arrest Health and his wife, Maxine.

Health, through his attorney, declared that he swam back to his cabin cruiser and never saw Sundland again but believed he had gotten safely to shore.

Health's story as told by his attorney conflicts with the report of Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs. Petty's report was that while Customs Border Patrol Inspector Milton Larsen, Sundland's partner, went to telephone the patrol base for instructions, Sundland boarded the Maxine and was spirited away in the craft.

Petty's report was based on affidavits given by two fishermen (Continued on Page Six)

Eckener Says Siberia
Wastes Will Be Most Dangerous

LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 6.—Perils unknown to even such hardy adventurers as trans-Atlantic fliers await the Graf Zeppelin on its round-the-world flight, in the opinion of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible.

The long cruise is scheduled to start from here Wednesday at midnight and sixty men worked today at the job of refueling the ship. It was expected the work would not be finished before tomorrow evening.

Dr. Eckener believes the most formidable obstacles in the way of realization of his dream of an aerial circumnavigation of the world will be encountered in the wastes over the Siberian Tundra wastes, between Friedrichshafen and Tokio.

Grave as the dangers of trans-oceanic passage are admitted to be, powerful radio stations sputter essential information from either shore. Scores of well wishing surface ships are ready to pick up, and if necessary, re-transmit these weather observations to their aerial competitor.

Upon the basis of this constant flow of data, navigation officers of the Graf Zeppelin chart their winding course. They dart south of a storm center here, or speed up their motors to catch a favorable wind reported nearby.

Asia offers no radio protection to aerial navigators. There are not even adequate maps. For land marks, Eckener must utilize the great rivers which twist through (Continued on Page Six)

KING STATEMENT ON CRUISER BUILDING ALARMS PRESIDENT

May Embarrass Him In Conversations With MacDonald

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The announced plan of Senator William H. King, Dem., Utah, to propose a senate resolution specifically approving President Hoover's construction of cruiser building, threatens to cause some embarrassment to the administration.

The fear is that "big navy" talk in congress would be unbecomingly such a proposal and embarrass Mr. Hoover's disarmament conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald here in October.

If a congressional outbreak occurred similar to that made by Senator Swanson, Dem., Va., in a statement Sunday, the cause of naval reduction might suffer in the public opinion of both countries, it was believed.

Mr. Hoover and MacDonald have been relying heavily during the discussions so far, upon the force of public opinion and this is why debate with a "big navy" slant is unwelcome.

From the White House and 10 Downing St., the naval negotiators have dominated all press and public discussion of the subject.

The big navy group in the United States, while making several protests against scrapping of the new fifteen-cruiser program, have not been able to maintain a continued discussion of the subject which might keep their side effectively before the public.

At the White House, President Hoover is described as confident of his legal authority to hold up construction of the ships until June 30, 1931.

Most of the "big navy" advocates have conceded that a short suspension is legal, but that under the law the construction of the three cruisers involved, and two more, must be started within eleven months, or before the end of the present fiscal year.

In other words, President Hoover faces trouble unless a formal reprieve agreement is reached by next June 30—and if the agreement should provide for scrapping of any of the new cruisers, there is still likelihood of much opposition.

STABBED TO DEATH
CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 6.—Three stab wounds and a handful of torn currency were found on the body of John White, 45, millwright, who was killed here today. He was believed to have been stabbed to death while resisting an attempt at robbery.

TWO ARE MISSING
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 6.—Charles Wallace's two children have been missing since August 3 and today he advanced the theory that they had hitch-hiked to Lakehurst, N. J., to watch the Graf Zeppelin pull in from Germany. Lakehurst police have been asked to look for the young Zeppelin enthusiasts.

EX-NATIONAL BANK EXAMINER SOUGHT FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Chicago Bond Broker Accused Of Fraud By Customers

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—A warrant was out today charging a former national bank examiner in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan and head of the bond brokerage firm of J. B. Greenfield and Co., maintaining offices in Chicago and Detroit.

Records of the concern were seized by Assistant State's Attorney Arthur Carsten who is investigating complaints that the company has defrauded customers.

Many of them entrusted with widows' estates and other fiduciary funds of more than $500,000.

Greenfield, said to be an alumnus of the University of Michigan, is reported to be in Detroit. The warrant was sworn out by Miss Anna Horner, niece of Judge Henry Horner and one of the victims of the alleged swindling.

The alleged swindler, it was said, had persuaded friends to make investments with the company, it was said.

Action was taken against Greenfield after he failed to keep a promise to place $500,000 in the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Carsten by noon yesterday to make good on undelivered securities.

DAYTON MAN HELD IN ACCIDENT PROBE

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 6.—Patrick Farmer, 25, Walnut St., Dayton, driver of a car in which three persons were killed last night in an accident near Reading, was under arrest today for investigation.

An automobile, traveling in the same direction as Farmer's, side-swiped his car and the following persons were killed: Mrs. Nellie Weiler, 27, of 25 Walnut St.; a man named Redman, of E. Fifth St.; and an unidentified woman whose address was believed to have been 25 Walnut St.

STATE WILL COMPLETE SNOOK CASE WITH TUESDAY EVIDENCE

(Bulletin)
COURT ROOM, Columbus.
O., Aug. 6.—The state today rested its case against Dr. James Howard Snook, accused of the murder of Theora Hix.

state claims, amounted to a verbal confession.

The state, by the evidence it has introduced thus far, has offered what it considers proof that Miss Hix was murdered with Dr. Snook's knife and hammer; that he admitted to two newspapermen that he killed the girl; that he deliberately cut her throat, and that the killing grew out of a quarrel during which she threatened the safety of his wife and family.

Further it has given two powerfully stimulating drugs and that the same drugs were found to be either in the possession of or easy access to Dr. Snook. Three years of ill relationship between the two has been outlined to the jury.

The defense is expected to rely first upon a claim that Dr. Snook was temporarily insane, and second that he acted in self defense. It has been promised that the former Ohio State University professor himself would be his own chief witness and that his wife would appear in his behalf. Two alienists also are prepared to testify, presumably that there is reason to believe Snook was insane.

At yesterday afternoon's session, W. C. Howells and James E. Fusco, reporters for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Columbus Citizen, respectively, recounted in detail an interview they had with Snook which covered even more ground than the signed confession.

The defense is prepared to attack the signed confession with evidence designed to show it was not voluntary and charges that "third degree" methods were used. Such an attack cannot be leveled as effectively against the newspapermen's recitals which, the

TWO CHINAMEN DEAD
WHEN TONG OUTRAGE
OCCURS IN BOSTON

Police Patrol City's
Chinatown To End
Bloodshed

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The narrow little cobble-stoned streets of Boston's Chinatown were deserted today except for patrolling squads of policemen, rushed into this bit of transplanted Orient to guard another tong outbreak such as the one last night in which two Chinese were killed.

Three suspects were under arrest. One of them was identified as the slayer of Yee Wah, a laundryman. Yee Wah was killed in the door way of his laundry by a tong "hatchetman" who discarded their revolvers near the scene.

Almost at the moment the bullets found their mark in Wah, other "hatchetmen" made Shing Hing, an interpreter for the United States immigration service here, their victim. His assailants escaped through a cordon of police thrown about the district when authorities realized a long war was on in earnest.

Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley further augmented the police guard in the district when informed of apparent hostilities between the Hip Sing and the On Leong, rival tongs. At strategic points in the Chinese section, police placed squads armed with sub-machine guns.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 6.—Portsmouth voters drew first blood in the case of William R. Sprague, municipal judge, whose removal is sought on the contention that the judge is co-operating with theater interests in the Sunday operation of shows. Judge William P. ATTEMPT TO CREATE COMMISSION TO END DISPUTE REPORTED

U. S. Intervention May Be Opposed By Soviets

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—Official Moscow was astir today over a report that the United States government was making an effort for international intervention in the current conflict between Russia and China.

The report, unconfirmed but said to have emanated from sources considered "absolutely trustworthy," said that the United States government had sent confidential notes through Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Great Britain, Japan, Germany, Italy and France suggesting the formation of an ad hoc commission to determine the causes of the dispute which arose from Nanking's seizure of the Chinese eastern railway and to fix responsibility.

It was stated that Secretary Stimson also suggested that the commission was to be empowered to find methods for the future administration of the disputed road to prevent a repetition of the trouble and that pending a complete settlement a foreign manager, from a country not directly interested, be appointed to take charge of the road and to be empowered with wide authority to safeguard the interests of all concerned.

The United Press correspondent was informed on excellent authority that such a move would not meet with the approval of Soviet officials, who would regard that sort of intervention as anti-Soviet in character.

Meanwhile, it was reported from the East that Chinese authorities had made further attempts to negotiate with M. Melnikoff, Soviet representative in Manchuria, now en route to Moscow. The reports stated that Melnikoff refused to negotiate, informing the Chinese officials that he was not empowered to carry on negotiations. The reports of other negotiations along the frontier were officially denied.

FARMERS HAD BEST
HELP THEMSELVES

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 6.—The Institute of public affairs today began its third annual session at the University of Virginia. Public men and scholars from various parts of the country congregated for a brief study of national and international problems.

Senator Carter Glass, Dem., Va., addressed the institute on the tariff last night prior to its formal opening.

"Farmers had better aid themselves," he declared. "No legislation that is fair economically will bring them relief. It would be better to repeal unjust legislation. The only way for the farmers to get relief is for them to organize for their own protection."

Glass said that farm products are 25 per cent higher today than before the war, but this is offset by the fact manufactured goods are "in proportion excessive, higher."

ARREST DAYTON MAN AND BRIDE IN DUEL

DEFIANCE, O., Aug. 6.—Orion Felkey, 28, Dayton, his nineteen-year-old bride, Beatrice, and Walter Lee, her brother, Somerset, Kentucky, were held in jail here today after taking part in a running gun duel with officers and a posse of farmers. The charge against the trio is robbery. They are alleged to have robbed a hardware and a jewelry store in Hicksville. They attempted to escape from the Hicksville marshal and there ensued a running gun duel, after which jewelry and pistols were gathered from the roadside when the auto of the trio went into a ditch.

REPORTED SUICIDE AND SHOOTING CASE PROBED BY SHERIFF

Will Question Widow In Mystery Case In Tennessee

ELIZABETH, Tenn., Aug. 6.—Far from being satisfied with the explanation of accidental shooting and suicide in the wounding of pretty Virginia Amari, 17, and the death of her young foster father, John Burnette, well known Tennessee attorney, Sheriff J. M. Moreland will subject Mrs. Burnette to close questioning upon her return here today or tomorrow.

Miss Amari, according to Mrs. Burnette, was accidentally wounded by her husband as he attempted to demonstrate the use of a gun, is expected to be released from the hospital today. It was shortly after the wounding of his young Mexican ward that Burnette staggered into the girl's bedroom fatally wounded, according to Mrs. Burnette.

The shooting of Miss Amari and the death of Burnette occurred at Burnette's summer camp on the Watauga river a short distance from this city early last Thursday night. Miss Amari was reclining in bed at the time she was shot.

After the arrival of the doctor, Burnette went to a rear room in the camp. A moment later a pistol exploded and the attorney lurched back into the room. "Good bye, doc," he murmured as he fell to the floor.

Bloodstains on the back porch of the camp, as well as belief that two different guns were used in the shootings, are being investigated.

OHIO STATE GRID PLAYER IS KILLED

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 6.—Cloyd W. Brown, 23, of Toledo, a member of the Ohio State University football squad, was killed here last night when he was struck by a swinging crane and hurled beneath a coal car.

Brown had become a switchman for the B. and O. to keep in physical condition for the coming football season. He also has been attending summer classes at Toledo University.

RIVER STEAMER IS AGROUND IN OHIO

GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 6.—Efforts were being made today to refloat the steamer Monongahela which went aground on a sand bar near the head of Gallipolis Island.

The steamer, one of the largest on the river and on her way to New Orleans, was towing thirteen barges loaded with 20,000 tons of steel products.

Government officials at dam two will be asked to release water from the pool above to refloat the ship.

The big navy group in the United States, while making several protests against possible scrapping of the new fifteen-cruiser program, have not been able to maintain a continued discussion of the subject which might keep their side effectively before the public.

At the White House, President Hoover is described as confident of his legal authority to hold up construction of the ships until June 30, 1931.

Most of the "big navy" advocates have conceded that a short suspension is legal, but that under the law the construction of the three cruisers involved, and two more, must be started within eleven months or before the end of the present fiscal year.

In other words, President Hoover faces trouble unless a formal reduction agreement is reached by next June 30—and if the agreement should provide for scrapping of any of the new cruisers, there is still likelihood of much opposition.

DAYTON MAN HELD IN ACCIDENT PROBE

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 6.—Patrick Farmer, 25 Walnut St., Dayton, driver of a car in which three persons were killed last night in an accident near Reading, was under arrest today for investigation.

An automobile, traveling in the same direction as Farmer's, side-swiped his car and the following persons were killed: Mrs. Nellie Weller, 27, of 25 Walnut St.; a man named Redman, of E. Fifth St.; and an unidentified woman whose address was believed to have been 25 Walnut St.

PAJAMA FAD NOTHING NEW TO INDIANS

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 6.—While a few eastern men and more western women are defying the ridicule of the more conservative by appearing in public adorned in brightly colored pajamas, hundreds of Indians made up the major portion of the annual corn dance at Domingo in the garb of their forefathers—pajamas.

"Just think of it—that pajama fad has already penetrated clear out here in New Mexico," gasped an eastern tourist.

"Nothing of the kind," retorted a westerner. "Indians have been wearing them since I don't know when—ever since I can remember and probably

STATE WILL COMPLETE SNOOK CASE WITH TUESDAY EVIDENCE

(Bulletin)
COURT ROOM, Columbus, O., Aug. 6.—The state today rested its case against Dr. James Howard Snook, accused of the murder of Theora Hix.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6.—The evidence by which the state hopes to convict Dr. James Howard Snook of the murder of Theora Hix will be completed today, according to Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr., who said he had but one major witness to be examined.

The defense issued summonses yesterday for a list of character and other witnesses and will be ready to proceed with its testimony as soon as the state rests.

Marion Meyers, former farm crop agent for the Ohio State University who claims to have shared Theora's favor with Snook, was among those summoned. While the prosecution would not definitely reveal its plans, it was understood that the effort to place in evidence Dr. Snook's written confession would be abandoned.

At yesterday afternoon's session, W. C. Howells and James E. Fusco, reporters for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Columbus Citizen, respectively, recounted in detail an interview they had with Snook which covered even more ground than the signed confession.

The defense is prepared to attack the signed confession. It was designed to show it was not voluntary and charges that "third degree" methods were used.

Such an attack cannot be leveled as effectively against the newspapermen's recitals which, the state claims, amounted to a verbal confession.

The state, by the evidence it has introduced thus far, has offered what it considers proof that Miss Hix was murdered with Dr. Snook's knife and hammer; that he admitted to two newspapermen that he killed the girl; that he deliberately cut her throat, and that the killing grew out of a quarrel during which she threatened the safety of his wife and family.

Further it has offered evidence that she had been given two powerfully stimulating drugs and that the same drugs were found to be either in the possession of or easy of access to Dr. Snook. Three years of illicit relationship between the two has been outlined to the jury.

The defense is expected to rely first upon a claim that Dr. Snook was temporarily insane, and second that he acted in self defense. It has been promised that the former Ohio State University professor himself would be his own chief witness and that his wife would appear in his behalf. Two alienists also are prepared to testify, presumably that there is reason to believe Snook was insane.

TWO CHINAMEN DEAD WHEN TONG OUTRAGE OCCURS IN BOSTON

Police Patrol City's Chinatown To End Bloodshed

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The narrow little cobbled streets of Boston's Chinatown were deserted today except for patrolling squads of policemen, rushed into this bit of transplanted Orient to guard another tong outbreak such as the one last night in which two Chinese were killed.

Three suspects were under arrest. One of them was identified as the slayer of Yee Wah, a laundry proprietor. Yee Wah was killed in the doorway of his laundry by tong "hatchetmen" who discarded their revolvers near the scene.

Almost at the moment the bullets found their mark in Wah, other "hatchetmen" made Shing Hing, an interpreter for the United States immigration service here, their victim. His assailants escaped through a cordon of police thrown about the district when authorities realized a tong war was on in earnest.

Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley further augmented the police guard in the district when informed of apparent hostilities between the Hip Sing and the On Leong, rival tongs. At strategic points in the Chinese section, police placed squads armed with sub-machine guns.

REPARATIONS MEET OPENS AT HAGUE

THE HAGUE, Aug. 6.—Spokesmen for France and Germany, stood on the same platform here today at the opening of the reparations conference and voiced appeals for good will and fraternity.

Aristide Briand, premier and foreign minister of France, responded to the welcome of Dutch Foreign Minister F. Beelaerts van Blokland, when the conference convened, and was followed directly by Gustave Stresemann, the brilliant foreign minister of Germany.

BLUE LAW FRIENDS DRAW FIRST BLOOD

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 6.—Portsmouth voters drew first blood in the case of William R. Sprague, municipal judge, whose removal is sought on the contention that the judge is co-operating with theater interests in the Sunday operation of shows.

Judge William P. Stephenson, West Union, temporarily overruled contention of defense attorneys that the petition of 2200 local voters is unconstitutional. Witnesses were being called today in the trial.

FIREMAN SAVES CASH

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 6.—Mrs. John Schenk, of Lansing, near Bridgeport, was saved $800 by Carl Barnes, volunteer fireman, who broke down a kitchen door in Mrs. Schenk's blazing home and got the money from a pitcher.

ATTEMPT TO CREATE COMMISSION TO END DISPUTE REPORTED

U. S. Intervention May Be Opposed By Soviets

MOSCOW, Aug. 6.—Official Moscow was astir today over a report that the United States government was making an effort for international intervention in the current conflict between Russia and China.

The report, unconfirmed but said to have emanated from sources considered "absolutely trustworthy," said that the United States government had sent confidential notes through Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Great Britain, Japan, Germany, Italy and France suggesting the formation of an unbiased commission to determine the causes of the dispute which arose from Nanking's seizure of the Chinese eastern railway and to fix responsibility.

It was stated that Secretary Stimson also suggested that the commission was to be empowered to find methods for the future administration of the disputed road to prevent a repetition of the trouble and that pending a complete settlement a foreign manager, from a country not directly interested, be appointed to take charge of the road and to be empowered with wide authority to safeguard the interests of all concerned.

The United Press correspondent was informed on excellent authority that such a move would not meet with the approval of Soviet officials, who would regard that sort of intervention as anti-Soviet in character.

Meanwhile, it was reported from the east that Chinese authorities had made further attempts to negotiate with M. Melnikoff, Soviet representative in Manchuria, now en route to Moscow. The reports stated that Melnikoff refused to negotiate, informing the Chinese officials that he was not empowered to carry on negotiations. The reports of other negotiations along the frontier were officially denied.

FARMERS HAD BEST HELP THEMSELVES

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 6.—The Institute of public affairs today began its third annual session at the University of Virginia. Public men and scholars from various parts of the country congregated for a brief study of national and international problems.

Senator Carter Glass, Dem., Va., addressed the Institute on the tariff last night prior to its formal opening.

"Farmers had better aid themselves," he declared. "No legislation that is fair economically will bring them relief. It would be better to repeal unjust legislation. The only way for the farmers to get relief is for them to organize for their own protection."

Glass said that farm products are 25 per cent higher today than before the war, but this is offset by the fact manufactured goods are "in proportion excessively higher."

ARREST DAYTON MAN AND BRIDE IN DUEL

DEFIANCE, O., Aug. 6.—Orion Felkey, 25, Dayton, his nineteen-year-old bride, Beatrice, and Walter Lee, her brother, Somerset, Kentucky, were held in jail here today after taking part in a running gun duel with officers and a posse of farmers. The charge against the trio is robbery. They are alleged to have robbed a hardware and a jewelry store in Hicksville. They attempted to escape from the Hicksville marshal and there ensued a running gun duel, after which jewelry and pistols were gathered from the roadside when the auto of the trio went into a ditch.

ESCAPED PRISONER HELD IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 6.—Joe Wojciechowski, 35, escaped Auburn Prison Tuesday in a house here by a squad of police, will be taken back to New York as soon as prison officials arrive.

The escaped trusty was found sitting in the yard talking to his cousin, Ike Shipka, Jr. He offered no resistance. He told police he had been in Cleveland about a week and had come here hoping to see his wife and two children who live here.

He had served seven years of a fifteen-year sentence for robbery, and would have been eligible for parole in two more years.

NEWSBOY KILLED

DAYTON, O., Aug. 6.—Gene Hetzel, 8, a newsboy, was struck and killed by an auto while crossing a road near here.

BUS DRIVER HOLDS FUTURE OF SERVICE

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 6.—"The future of bus transportation is in the hands of the drivers. The public wants to buy safe transportation and will look to the driver for that commodity not to the president of his company."
Traffic Judge Lee Skel said this to a meeting of northern Ohio bus drivers opening a safety contest sponsored by the Buckeye Stages, Inc.
The drivers pledged themselves to observe definite safety rules and entered a team in a state-wide contest to reduce highway accidents.
The drivers were reminded that the "dizzy blonde" has ruined many good bus drivers.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS

The agricultural marketing act, as most people know who know anything about it, is built around the idea of co-operative selling of farm products.

Arthur H. Jenkins is a reason that McNary-Haugenites invented the famous equalization fee, a device for compelling all farmers to assume their share of the cost of operating the system.

However, congress and President Hoover, as well as many farm leaders and economists, still believe that a workable marketing system can be built, with co-operative selling organizations as the foundation.

The marketing act will try to accomplish this, granting many important advantages to the co-operatives, and trying to make it greatly to the advantage of the individual farmer to join a co-op, and remain a loyal member thereof.

It remains to be seen, of course, whether the idea will work. Personally, I have faith in co-operative selling, but one of the great controversies in agriculture is whether the farmer can or cannot shake off his ancient individualistic traits, and turn over the self-ing of his stuff to an organization over which he has no direct control.

The history of co-operative selling is strewn with the wrecks of organizations which got along nicely for a time, but which fell apart when members found that farmers on the outside were getting more for their products than those inside.

It is easy to understand, and hard to condemn such actions. And yet the great co-operative selling successes have been built up in spite of them.

Some years ago the Danish government—Denmark being the classic example of successful co-operative selling—kept in this country a special commissioner named Soren Sorenson. I once heard Mr. Sorenson say that the success of Danish farmers lay in their tenacious loyalty to their organizations.

"What American farmers must learn," he said, "is to stick by their organizations even when their officers make mistakes. They must continue to co-operate, even when it does not pay."

It will be interesting to see whether the independent American, under the pressure of the marketing act, can make himself behave like the self-disciplined Dane.

67 Years of Petroleum Experience in every gallon of CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE

CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE is no ordinary motor fuel. Ordinary methods have not been used in producing it.

This high-quality motor fuel is the result of over 67 years of experience in the refining and perfecting of petroleum products. These long years of study and research have taught Cities Service experts how to build a really better gasoline.

As a further check on quality, the gasoline must pass 12 rigid scientific tests before it is offered for your consumption.

When this gasoline finally enters the tank in your car it is full of power, and you have a positive assurance of quick starting, swift pick-up and many miles of the smoothest and most economical performance your car has ever given.

When you drive in for a tankful of Cities Service Gasolene ask the attendant to drain your crankcase and refill it with Koolmotor Oil—the perfect Pennsylvania motor oil. You will find this the ideal lubricant for your modern high-speed, high-compression motor which develops high degrees of heat. This especially processed oil will keep your motor cool and smooth-running even during the hottest weather.

You can obtain these two high quality products at any of the conveniently located LORECO stations in this city and vicinity.

CITIES SERVICE COMPANY is one of the country's largest industrial organizations, serving millions of people in 33 states with electricity, transportation, ice, water, natural and manufactured gas and petroleum products.

Cities Service is no newcomer in the petroleum business. One of its properties is one of the oldest—if not the oldest—in the oil industry. In 1862, shortly after the first oil well was drilled—the famous Drake Well in Titusville—this Cities Service subsidiary began refining and perfecting petroleum products.

To improve the quality of its products and services, Cities Service spends $1,000,000 each year for research and experiment. A substantial amount of this is applied to Cities Service oils and gasoline—the lubricants used by the Public Utilities Division of Cities Service in its fleet of over 4,000 motor vehicles of every type. These vehicles operate every day in the year covering thousands of miles and could not render perfect service without the high quality of these products which are available to motorists in 33 states.

67 Years of Petroleum Experience in every gallon of
CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE

CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE is no ordinary motor fuel. Ordinary methods have not been used in producing it.

This high-quality motor fuel is the result of over 67 years of experience in the refining and perfecting of petroleum products. These long years of study and research have taught Cities Service experts how to build a really better gasoline.

As a further check on quality, the gasoline must pass 12 rigid scientific tests before it is offered for your consumption.

When this gasoline finally enters the tank in your car it is full of power, and you have a positive assurance of quick starting, swift pick-up and many miles of the smoothest and most economical performance your car has ever given.

When you drive in for a tankful of Cities Service Gasoline ask the attendant to drain your crankcase and refill it with Koolmotor Oil—the perfect Pennsylvania motor oil. You will find this the ideal lubricant for your modern high-speed, high-compression motor which develops high degrees of heat. This especially processed oil will keep your motor cool and smooth-running even during the hottest weather.

You can obtain these two high quality products at any of the conveniently located LORECO stations in this city and vicinity.

CITIES SERVICE COMPANY is one of the country's ten largest industrial organizations, serving millions of people in 33 states with electricity, transportation, ice, water, natural and manufactured gas and petroleum products.

Cities Service is no newcomer in the petroleum business. One of its properties is one of the oldest—if not the oldest—in the oil industry. In 1862, shortly after the first oil well was drilled—the famous Drake Well in Titusville—this Cities Service subsidiary began refining and perfecting petroleum products.

To improve the quality of its products and service, Cities Service spends $1,000,000 each year for research and experiment. A substantial amount of this is applied to Cities Service oils and gasoline—the lubricants used by the Public Utilities Division of Cities Service in its fleet of over 4,000 motor vehicles of every type. These vehicles operate every day in the year covering thousands of miles and could not render perfect service without the high quality of these products which are available to motorists in 33 states.

GOVERNOR COOPER TO ATTEND CAMP MIAMI GUEST OF SCOUTS

"Governor's Day," featuring the presence of the highest official of the state, Governor Myers Y. Cooper, will be observed Tuesday at Camp Miami, summer camp of Tecumseh Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Yellow Springs.

Governor Cooper will arrive late in the afternoon and eat dinner with the Scouts at the camp at 6 p. m. Following dinner, H. O. Portz, Scout executive, will conduct an inspection of the camp for the benefit of Governor Cooper and John W. Prugh, former mayor of Xenia, now state building and loan superintendent, who will also be present.

In the evening a special council fire program will also be staged and the public is invited. The governor will be the guest of honor for the entire evening.

The ninetyeth annual Greene County Fair, established in 1839, opened Tuesday with the fairgrounds being placed in readiness for the 1929 exposition of city and county wares.

Although Tuesday was technically the opening day of fair, no admission was charged and throngs of persons wended their way around the grounds watching the exhibitors complete their final preparations.

J. Robert Bryson, secretary of the fair board, who has been maintaining headquarters in the Court House for the last week, is now located in offices under the grandstand at the fairgrounds.

Harness races on each day of the three-day Southwestern Ohio Shorship Circuit meet at the fair, beginning Wednesday afternoon and continuing through Friday will, unless otherwise announced, be called at 1 p. m. and the racing will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

The program for the opening day Wednesday includes four events, featured by two stake races.

The opening event is a 2:18 pacing stake for a $600 purse and a special loving cup donated to the winner by The Lang Chevrolet Co. Twenty horses are eligible for this race.

Next on the card is a 2:22 trot, added money, valued at $300, for which twenty-one horses have been nominated.

Sixteen horses have been entered for the three-year-old pacing stake, worth $500, third race on the program. The C. A. Weaver clothing store is also offering a loving cup to the winner as a special prize.

Juveniles have their inning in the fourth and final race of the afternoon, which will be a two-year old trot or pace for a $100 purse, raced under the two out of three heat plan. This event has ten entries, including Legality, owned by H. M. Marshall, Urbana.

This colt won the $2,500 "Home Brew" event, third on the program on the opening day of the abbreviated three-day session of Grand Circuit harness racing Monday at North Randall track, Cleveland.

After finishing second the first heat, Legality came through to win the final two heats in 2:18 and 2:23 1-5 respectively, not being extended in the final brush.

Couple United In Marriage

MISS Mary Virginia Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, S. Columbus St., and Mr. William Earl Vannorsdall, son of Mrs. Elsie Vannorsdall, Dayton, were quietly united in marriage at the M. P. Church of Sabina, Sunday morning at 11:45 o'clock immediately following the church services. The Rev. M. R. Stover, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride was very attractive in her figured chiffon wedding dress and wore a black hat and black satin coat with accessories to match.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mildred Harmony, Dayton, attended Miss Wilson and Mr. Thomas Lytle, Dayton, was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Vannorsdall left following the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip and upon their return will go to housekeeping at 31 Mumma Ave., Dayton.

The bride is a graduate of Xenia Central High School with the class of 1927. She also graduated from Miami Jacobs Business School of Dayton and has been employed at the Ohio Metal and Tin Co., Dayton, for the last year.

Mr. Vannorsdall is employed at the National Cash Register, Dayton.

Mrs. Ohmer Parker, this city and niece, Miss Margaret Parish, Dayton, returned home Saturday after spending three weeks with Miss Margaret Loughren in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Mildred Hyman, N. King St., arrived home Monday after a three weeks' visit with friends at Detroit, Mich., Toledo and Columbus.

Mrs. Margaret Rickett, E. Main St., has returned home after spending three weeks with her niece, Mrs. Joseph Linkhart, Enon.

The Missionary Society of the United Brethren Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Stephens, Rickett Road, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Babb, east of Paintersville, entertained at dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gotherman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harper Devoe, and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Devoe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Babb and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Woods and families.

Mr. E. H. Crow, Akron, spent the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Crow, W. Third St.

Mrs. R. E. Townsley, Dayton, and two daughters, Virginia and Alma Jean, returned home Monday after spending a few days with Mrs. Townsley's mother, Mrs. A. C. Sellers, Thornhill Ave.

Mrs. Helen Moorehead Taylor, Columbus, is the house guest of Miss Emma C. King, E. Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schneider and sons, Messrs. William and Bernard Schneider and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kany, this city, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Flick and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Landrum, at Hamilton, O., Sunday.

SWEETEN ACID STOMACH THIS PLEASANT WAY

When people experience distress two hours after eating—suffer from heartburn, gas, indigestion—nine times out of ten its excess acid that's causing their trouble.

The best way—the quickest way to correct this is with an alkali. And Phillips Milk of Magnesia is an alkali, in the harmless, most pleasant and palatable form. It's the form physicians prescribe; which hospitals use; which millions have come to depend upon in over 50 years of steadily increasing use.

A spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water neutralizes many times its volume in excess acid; and does it at once. In five minutes, the symptoms of excess acid disappear. To know this perfect way is to be through with crude methods forever.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. A less perfect product may not act the same. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c bottles. Full directions for its many uses are always in the package.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

GOVERNOR COOPER TO ATTEND CAMP MIAMI GUEST OF SCOUTS

"Governor's Day," featuring the presence of the highest official of the state, Governor Myers Y. Cooper, will be observed Tuesday at Camp Miami, summer camp of Tecumseh Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Yellow Springs.

Governor Cooper will arrive late in the afternoon and eat dinner with the Scouts at the camp at 6 p. m. Following dinner, H. O. Portz, Scout executive, will conduct an inspection of the camp for the benefit of Governor Cooper and John W. Prugh, former mayor of Xenia, now state building and loan superintendent, who will also be present.

In the evening a special council fire program will also be staged and the public is invited. The governor will be the guest of honor for the entire evening.

The ninetieth annual Greene County Fair, established in 1839, opened Tuesday with the fairgrounds being placed in readiness for the 1929 exposition of city and county wares.

Although Tuesday was technically the opening day of fair, no admission was charged and throngs of persons wended their way around the grounds watching the exhibitors complete their final preparations.

J. Robert Bryson, secretary of the fair board, who has been maintaining headquarters in the Court House for the last week, is now located in offices under the grandstand at the fairgrounds.

Harness races on each day of the three-day Southwestern Ohio Shortship Circuit meet at the fair, beginning Wednesday afternoon and continuing through Friday will, unless otherwise announced, be called at 1 p. m. and the racing will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock. The program for the opening day Wednesday includes four events, featured by two stake races.

The opening event is a 2:18 pacing stake for a $600 purse and a special loving cup donated to the winner by The Lang Chevrolet Co. Twenty horses are eligible for this race.

Next on the card is a 2:22 trot, added money, valued at $300, for which twenty-one horses have been nominated.

Sixteen horses have been entered for the three-year-old pacing stake, worth $500, third race on the program. The C. A. Weaver clothing store is also offering a loving cup to the winner as a special prize.

Juveniles have their racing in the fourth and final race of the afternoon, which will be a two-year-old trot or pace for a $100 purse, raced under the two out of three heat plan. This event has ten entries, including Legality, owned by H. M. Marshall, Urbana.

This colt won the $2,500 "Home Brew" event, third on the program on the opening day of the abbreviated three-day session of Grand Circuit harness racing Monday at North Randall track, Cleveland.

After finishing second the first heat, Legality came through to win the first two heats in 2:18 and 2:23 1-5 respectively, not being extended in the final brush.

MODERNE, France, Aug. 6.—Bidding farewell to the world of fashion and royalty where they ranked among the richest and noblest, Prince and Princess Isara-Patemo-Castello have entered the church as priest and nun. He is a silent, bearded monk while she who was his wife is an humble, bare-footed sister of mercy.

The former Princess is in the convent of the bare-footed Carmelites here after taking the veil at the hand of the Barnabite priest who used to be her husband. The Prince is in the Barnabite monastery at Monza, Italy.

Belonging to an ancient royal house of Sicily the titled couple lived in magnificence in their mansion at Milan, surrounded by every evidence of wealth and luxury. But the pleasures of dalliance with everything that money could buy and the world could give, began to pall to them. They realized they were both near the age of 50 and had accomplished little. They were childless. There was nothing to tie them to the world.

Their decision to renounce the sort of lives they had lived was taken four years ago, but it is only now that they have passed the period ordained for novitiates and been formally accepted into the monastic life.

While the Prince prepared himself to undergo his four years' novitiate as priest of the Barnabite Order, his wife bought an ancient shooting lodge and installed herself there in an atmosphere of religious seclusion. From time to time, the Prince in holy garb came to the lodge and spoke a few words of spiritual comfort through the grille. Each time they renewed their vows to give up forever the existence they had led.

A few weeks ago the Prince was ordained priest in the Carmelite chapel at Restocco. Soon after in the same chapel the new Barnabite imposed the veil on her who had been his wife. Now the Princess is the Sister Marie de Jesus.

DIVORCES MINISTER

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Aug. 6.—A divorce was granted yesterday to Mrs. Laura Ash, Pittsburgh, from Rev. Lloyd L. Ash, former pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church at Uhrichsville.

THEATER GUILD TO START MEMBERSHIP DRIVE FOR SEASON

Plans for the membership drive and coming season of The Little Theater Guild of Xenia were made at a second meeting of the executive committee of the organization at the Court House Monday evening.

The membership drive will be in charge of the chairman of the membership committee, Miss Allegra Hawes, and a group of assistants appointed by Miss Hawes.

Last year's members will be solicited and an effort made to obtain additional members. Season tickets will be placed on sale at different business houses during the campaign.

Members of the executive committee decided at the meeting Monday that each of the four performances of the 1929-30 season of the Guild, which will start the latter part of September, will be open to the membership only. It is felt that the guild's work was given sufficient introduction to the public during the past season, when public performances were given.

The regular Guild performances will be interspersed with "play readings" for members when current theater successes will be read and theater management and other phases of the work will be discussed.

CLUBS WILL PARADE WITH LIVESTOCK

There was a time when the annual live stock parade at the Greene County Fair was strictly a live stock parade in every sense of the word, but "them days are gone forever."

In recent years it has grown into a boys' and girls' club parade with the various county organizations doing their share to make it a success.

The parade will be staged on the race track in front of the grandstand and will take place Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Formerly it was held at 12 o'clock noon but it was discovered this time was inconvenient for most people. All horses and cattle that have competed for prizes will be required to enter the parade. F. B. Turnbull, N. N. Hunter and W. C. Smith are the members in charge.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD OR MAMMON—No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. — Matthew 6:24.

HAPPY ENDINGS

The Hollywood motion picture scenarist, it now appears, is not by many moons the first of the writing tribe to pander to public sentimentality and moral dogma by hitching faked-up "happy endings" to sincerely realistic stories of the original authors, and by balancing human faults with triumphant, if illogical, virtues. Nor is the American public, so often derided for hypocrisy, responsible for the practice. It was in vogue in no less enlightened a land than France a half century ago.

The opera "Carmen," as we know it today, is the result of such distortion of a sincere story, rendered to cater to the professed moral code of France in 1875.

FAVORABLE DAILY OUTLOOK

During the next year and for many, many years after, the outlook for the dairy industry continues to look favorable. Dairy farming has been profitable. It continues to be profitable, and practically every indication points favorably towards profits in the future. The man or woman milking good cows can rest well assured of good returns this year and for many years after, because no branch of agriculture seems to be built on a more solid foundation so far as "consumer demands" are concerned.

During the next few years, dairying will, in all probability, continue a profitable business wherever dairy farmers are milking good cows and feeding them good milk-making rations. Indications point towards strong consumer demands, no pronounced gain in production, no new threat of foreign competition and reasonable feed costs. Good dairy cows fed balanced rations will continue to pay good profits for feed and labor.

A RAILROAD RECORD

Science is playing a greater part in railroad operation at present than ever before.

Our railroad system is a laboratory in which every phase of operation is being studied to bring about greater efficiency, economy and service.

In the years since the war the railroads have given less attention to extending their lines than to more efficient utilization of existing facilities. Progress has been made on every hand with the result that the American people are receiving the best transportation service in history.

Cars have been improved, train speeds have been increased, car shortages have been overcome, accidents have been tremendously lowered and countless improvements made.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK—When you want to move out of an apartment in New York but are restrained by the terms of your lease, the custom is to lay in a plentiful supply of bootleg and stage a noisy all-night party. Appeals from the management, of course, fall on deaf ears. If the first wild revel doesn't do the trick, a second is sure to be followed by a request to vacate. And the landlord, as The Boys say, is left holding the bag.

AWAY FROM CIVILIZATION

Jimmy Stillman, former president of the National City Bank, has hied himself to Alaska in an airplane-camera hunting trip, minus a radio. Jas. says he "wants to get away from civilization."

The last man who succeeded in "getting away from civilization" stumbled over a rusty baked bean can in the heart of the jungle, cut his foot and died of blood poison and ingrowing chagrin.

WE AGREE WITH THE COP!

On sweltering summer nights at numerous beaches in the vicinity of New York, men and women bathe nude. The police keep order, but don't object.

"An why not?" remarked a good natured notion of the law, interviewed under the stars, amid a bevy of nude nymphs on a sandy stretch, fringing the Atlantic. "Sure for centuries they dove 'at way into the River Shannon, an' into the ocean at Youghal, Ireland."

The old River Shannon, once a poem, now a power, would be surprised to see bathin' suits on the lovely maids that plunge into its rippling to the accompaniment of thrushes, an' the 'c'm, celestial music av th' verdant, vivit hills that line its enchanted banks!

"Now that they've harnessed th' old stream an' put it to work turnin' light an' power to twenty-five counties in th' south av Ireland, I suppose thim great politicians av modesty, th' bathin' suit manufacturers, will condemn nude bathin'—but where's th' harm in it? Am I right?"

I never disagree with a cop—

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

LOW-GRADE BRAINS

Gamblers, crooks, thieves and others who live below the level of ordinary respectability often gain a reputation for being smart. Even unenthusiastic newspaper headline writers sometimes refer to some criminals as clever. The assumption is they are brainy. The fact is that the outstanding, overwhelming first and last characteristic of a crook is dumbness. Ignorance. If he were not ignorant, if he were not dumb, he would know that he had embarked on a ship that is always wrecked. He hasn't even the chance of a ten to one shot. "Life can't be even an adventure for him, for there is not the remote possibility of victory."

Crooks sometimes bear a reputation for brains because they have a kind of instinctive cunning. Cunning is not a nice word to apply to humans. It is a work for snakes, cats and South American ant-eaters. Snakes have cunning but they have tiny brains.

A CITY'S REAL SIZE

Loyal inhabitants of large towns will be glad to know that the U. S. government, in taking the census, is going to give statistics for "metropolitan districts," surrounding large cities, as well as the figures for population inside city limits. The true definition of a city includes more than the organization of the group which lives inside certain limits. It includes all those whose interests are centered in the growth, development, and policy of a total district.

WALKER AND NEW YORK

It will not astonish those who know Mayor Walker to learn from political observers that he will undoubtedly be mayor of the Greater City for another four years. Jimmie Walker understands New York people and he understands his job. He knows his business. At home or abroad, in the city or in the middle west or south, he is representative of New York. He is the spirit of the greatest city in the republic. And those who do not think he works diligently at his great job are only those who do not know him.

PLANS AND PIGEONS

Homing pigeons have long been famous for speed over long distances. And yet the pigeon is as out of date as the horse and buggy when it comes to competing with airplanes. Don't ever think nature can't be improved on. Man-made machines can beat nature at many games. Nature has made mistakes in the development of animals which proved worse than useless. The animals have disappeared.

Men sometimes blame their failures on their own "human nature." It's no excuse. Human nature can be modified, corrected, improved. The airplane is an improvement on the natural homing pigeon.

PROTECTION VIEWED AS VITAL TO FUTURE SUGAR INDUSTRY

FOOLISH?

With four million Gothamites crowded into one, two and three-room hide-aways, there's a chance for some alienist to step out and make a reputation for himself by studying the mental processes of the man who just signed a $45,000-a-year lease for a Park Avenue apartment.

Real Estate men say it's the world record—but they don't say whether they mean insanity or rent.

THE NEW WALDORF

The Waldorf-Astoria is to be re-located on Park Avenue at a cost of $40,000,000. Compared with the old place it will loom like a giant. The one that was interwoven with our youth was sixteen stories and had 1,000 rooms. The new one will be forty-three stories with 2,200 rooms.

Brother Boomer, president of the Waldorf-Astoria Corporation, assumed the new Waldorf will do everything to carry out the traditions of the old Waldorf—in "a modern way."

Which probably means sticking a feather in a fish ball and calling it a chicken croquette.

GOLD IN ORANGEADE

Schultz, the stooge man, had a far better idea of the value of a dollar than the Columbus theatre owner. They hoisted his rent from $12,000 to $48,000 a year, whereupon Dave packed his panettellas and out, the orange and pineapple drinker, next door enlarging its counter to take in the former cigar store territory.

Four hundred and eighty thousand additional dollars a year, at a thin one a drink, before the additional rent is met!

Barnum sure was right. And he died leaving a million and a quarter, which was a heap of money thirty-eight years ago.

YOU CAN'T KEEP A BAD MAN DOWN, EITHER

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Several of the questions that have come through the mails to me lately have been on the subject of summer coiffures. How shall I wear my hair this summer? Is it true that the bob is going out? What does Paris say about long hair?

The proper answer to such questions is exceedingly difficult. At the risk of seeming evasive I am going to state my replies, generally, in this way. "Dress your hair in the manner that best suits your type and your convenience." In these days of individual coiffures no one can say definitely that hair must be worn long or short, to be in fashion.

Paris sponsors both the bob and the coiffure of closely dressed long hair. Somehow I feel, and I am quite sure that the Paris coiffures are of the same opinion, that the bob will never be entirely outdated. Styles in hair cutting may change, indeed, they are certain to change. But short hair will always be the choice of some fashionable women. Not only because it is convenient, although that is an important point in its favor. But because it is distinctly youthful. More and more we tend toward classic, sculptural simplicity in hair dressing. The natural outline of a beautiful head and throat is above everything to be desired. And the cleverly molded, sculptured bob reveals this outline, when it is lovely, more artistically than any other type of hair dressing can do.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Right now is a fine time for the president of the United States to be talking about peace—with Congress in the very act of planning a new protective tariff which 30 and some odd nations already have protested would be an act of commercial war.

This idea is bound to be emphasized, both in the senate and house of representatives, when America's lawmakers get together in the fall. It cannot very easily be laughed off.

Of course, the high tariff-ites dispute the argument that protection is a warlike policy, but economists are practically unanimous in asserting that it is—not that it is guaranteed to lead immediately to physical fighting, but that it strains relations and tends that way.

That the proposed increase in American rates will be resented can hardly be denied.

The avalanche of complaints the state department has received from abroad leaves no doubt about it. To be sure, the high protectionists maintain that these complaints are mere bluffs. Probably they are—if one interprets them as threats to take up arms. However, they do mean that their authors object to the Hawley-Smoot schedule, as tentatively outlined, and will be sore if the United States adopts it.

It is an appropriate time to urge armament limitation—the critics ask.

If logic counts for anything, the critics will have the better of the argument.

And maybe this will play into President Hoover's hand.

Mr. Hoover wants armies and navies reduced.

That is, he wants this country's reduced, and knows that such a program is hopeless unless other countries reduce theirs, too—especially England, her navy.

The general impression likewise is that he depreciates very high import duties. Some folk even accuse him of being a free trader at heart.

If so, he is in a position to oppose a stiff tariff raise, on the ground that it would throw a crimp into his arms reduction scheme, which public opinion assuredly favors, provided it is safe. Any interested, sensible person must.

England's labor government is a big thing for President Hoover's peace ambitions also.

Tory governments in London are suspected here.

Ever since Secretary of State Hughes permitted the British to exclude Uncle Sam out of the strongest navy in the world—at a cost of several hundred millions in new ships—in order to give John Bull the lead, this country has looked askance on world-peace negotiations between Washington and Westminster.

While Premier Stanley Baldwin remained in power, a few senators always could have blocked any fresh Anglo-American naval compact, and their constituents would have hurrahed for them.

But Premier Ramsay MacDonald is given credit for a lot of sincerity.

Nevertheless, Mr. Hoover's latest peace gesture is somewhat Britain's advantage.

It may sound very reciprocal on Mr. MacDonald's part to waive a considerable bunch of English cruiser-construction in recognition of Mr. Hoover's postponement of a start on a quarter of a dozen American vessels of similar type—but England was quite a few ships ahead of America at the time they made these mutual sacrifices.

Leave it to the British not to get the short end of a bargain—even with a labor government on the job.

Furnishing the Nursery

Consider the all-round development of the child when you plan the nursery and choose furnishings that will suit him rather than those that seem attractive to adults, says the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell university. Keep all furnishings to the scale of their small users.

Shelves for toys, for example, may seem more decorative if they are placed high, but to be practical they must be built within easy reach of the child. From his earliest years he can then learn to remove the toys for himself and replace them when he has finished playing.

If the poles and hooks in the clothes closet are placed at a convenient height for the child he will learn to hang up his own clothes.

The walls of many nurseries with small children show too exciting pictures, such as panels of the three bears or other strange animals. Plain walls of a light, cheerful color are more desirable.

Tables and chairs are to be had in smooth painted wood. Wicker, wing and arm chairs as well as other small reproductions of chairs for grownups are on the market and are popular with children. They seem like mother's and father's and are far more comfortable since they allow small feet to rest on the floor and they give real support to the body. Tables may

Serve Soup Cold in Warm Weather

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe).

Jellied Tomato Soup.—Three cups tomato, three bouillon cubes, one onion, one bay leaf, one and one-half teaspoons minced parsley, celery or celery salt, three teaspoons gelatin, a few peppercorns, few sprigs thyme. Simmer tomatoes, onion, bay leaf and celery with seasonings until quite soft, and strain. There should be three cups of juice. Add the minced parsley and bouillon cubes. Soften gelatin in three tablespoons cold water and dissolve in the hot juice. Season to taste with paprika and salt. Garnish with finely chopped pepper. Serves four.

Hot Weather Hints

If the skin is kept well cleansed, dead cuticle is removed and the skin is made a better radiator. This helps to control body temperature, and is especially important in warm weather.

In warm weather, frequent shampooing will keep the hair soft and fluffy and the head cool.

The four best medicines for the normal feet are walking, cleanliness, the proper type of shoe, and well fitting stockings, changed daily.

Berry Milk Shake

Do you have difficulty in taking the milk you should drink to balance your diet? Or do you have trouble with the children over their milk quota? Try this: Cook two cups of berries and a cup of sugar together until soft. Strain and add two tablespoons syrup to one glass of cold milk.

Bread Crumbs

Saving stale bread, let it dry out. Then rub into fine crumbs and put into a jar. These are always on hand when you want them for breaded recipes.

Practical Urinalysis (Part II)

In this series of papers I am giving you some lessons which, I have been led to believe by your correspondence, you need sadly. Some of you are needlessly worrying over your kidneys and others not worrying enough.

I told you yesterday about the general appearance and the amount of urine. If you are interested, please get yesterday's newspaper.

Color. Urine is normally a shade of yellow. Its intensity depends on its concentration, concentrated urine being a deeper shade and copious urine being light. Certain foods and drugs, such as rhubarb and senna, make it darker. Red urine may indicate the presence of blood unless the patient is taking certain drugs which will also color the urine. A microscopic examination will differentiate.

Odor. The odor of urine is characteristic. Its intensity depends on the concentration. The odor is normally affected by eating certain vegetables such as garlic and asparagus. Urine which has been standing for a long while after passing (especially in warm weather) has an offensive ammonia-like odor. This is due to the decomposition of the urea. When this strong offensive ammonia odor is present right after voiding it indicates that there is some infection of the urinary tract, with perhaps an abnormal retention in the bladder.

Chemical Reaction. The chemical reaction of fresh normal urine depends mostly on the concentration and the diet. Under ordinary conditions, it is slightly acid. This acidity can be increased (sometimes markedly) when too little water is taken and by a diet which has too many acid-forming foods. This will cause general acidosis and if persisted in, kidney and other inflammations.

With a diet that contains practically no acid-forming foods and liberal amounts of water, the urine may be normally slightly alkaline or neutral.

Tests for Reaction. The routine test for the reaction is with the use of paper dipped in red or blue litmus. (These you can get at the drug store or surgical supply houses.) The blue litmus turns red in an acid medium; the red turns blue in an alkaline medium. Small bits of each are put in a fresh sample of the urine. If it is acid, the blue litmus turns red, while the red remains unchanged. If it is alkaline, the red litmus turns blue, while the blue litmus remains unchanged. If both retain their original color, it is commonly said to be neutral but is really both acid and alkaline, and the balance each other (a reaction called amphoteric).

Most delicate tests for the reaction are used by the laboratories when necessary.

After standing, urine is first more acid from acid fermentation. After long standing, it begins to decompose and becomes highly alkaline.

I am going to tell you how to test your urine for sugar. You have to get a little outfit for this, and so long as you have the outfit, I shall in the following paper tell you a simple test for albumin which you can do at the same time. The diabetic specialists believe that the sugar test will disclose many cases of diabetes in the early stages when it can be cured or controlled. I asked a noted specialist in kidney diseases (Dr. Martin H. Fischer) on the advisability of giving you the albumin test also, and he thinks it will be as helpful in detecting early kidney disease as the sugar test is to detect early diabetes.

Editor's notes: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am lonesome and yearning for friendship of young folks. I am a girl of 18 and ask your advice. I am staying with a couple of old women. I have many young friends, but I am not allowed to go out with them. Instead, they keep me in every night and expect me to do as they do. But, Virginia, I simply can't. I've got to get out and have a good time like other girls. I work and pay board and clothe myself, and surely I ought to have a few privileges."

"JUST YEARNING."

A girl of 18 certainly should get out occasionally with young friends. Surely you could find work where you could have these privileges. Do you HAVE to live with these women you write about?

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We are two girl friends and we certainly need advice. One of us has a boy friend who isn't at all interesting. He doesn't care for what we care for. We like to go places. He wants us to sit by the fireside and purr. He doesn't approve of dancing and smoking and says movies hurt our eyes. He thinks if we appear on the street we are bold. One of us is very fond of him and hates to give him up in spite of his faults. "We also have a boy friend who is very fleshy. All three of us cannot sit in one car seat. The car is a small roadster. Even when one rides with him she has to sit very close. Is this proper? Is it proper for a girl to sit on a man's lap? Dear Virginia, we are both orphans and we have no one to advise us."

"ORPHAN AND ANNIE."

You certainly are in hard luck, girls, orphans are with one boy friend a tightwad and one a fat man. If one of you loves the first in spite of his faults, maybe you can cultivate the purring habit. If you can't, better change boy friends.

Why not tell the fat friend that his stoutness is bad for his health, and get him interested in a good scientific reducing diet that will take at least enough pounds so you can all three sit on the car seat or, at least, so one of you can, comfortably. It's too warm to sit close together, even though it is not, strictly speaking, improper. Sitting on a man's lap is not considered proper by "the best people" but occasionally under certain circumstances, it is excusable.

"SMILES: I'll answer you through the column, dear, if you don't mind. You are young, you know, and being shy you doubtless don't act quite natural with boys and they don't feel at home with you. As you grow older that will wear off. Try to think of the people you are with and not of yourself. That will help to overcome it. Have you a radio or victrola? You could practice dancing at home? The girls could show you the steps. People are sometimes operated on for bow legs, but of course it is expensive."

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I have been married for two years. I love my husband very much, but I think he is going out with other girls, for he goes to town nights and tells me not to come. A girl I know that cares for him has come to the house in her car and asked for him. What can I do, Virginia, to win back the lost affection or find out if he really steps out?"

WONDERING."

Following him to town is one way of finding out where he really goes and whom he is with. Wondering. It's not a very nice thing to do though. One likes to have faith in those they love.

I don't know what you can do to gain his love if it is slipping. Have you kept your house up well and made it a pleasant place in which to stay? Are you a good cook? Do you keep yourself looking nice?

Peter's Adventures

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE PATH TO GLORY

All the while this much-ado about-nothing had been taking place between Peter and Hickness, the trumpeter was steadily approaching. Now he had reached them. He bowed low before Peter, much to the boy's surprise.

"Noble sir," said the Trumpeter, "Her Majesty demands your presence at her side. I have come to conduct you." Turning to Dawdler, again he bowed low—"and you, too, sir."

"So Her Majesty did think of me, after all," said Dawdler, in a pleased tone. "Not what she should, thought, for I am her husband, you know. Come on, boy, are you ready? It isn't polite to keep the Queen waiting—nor wise, either," he added, under his breath.

"Do I really have to go?" asked Peter, nervously. "I am ever so much obliged to Her Majesty, but I'd rather stay here with you, wouldn't you?"

"I should say not," answered his friend, decidedly. "It would be as much as my life is worth to do a thing like that."

"Are you afraid of the Queen?" asked the boy, curiously. "I thought you said that you were her husband."

"So I am, but that doesn't count for much in Beville. Didn't I tell you that they do not think very highly of the males in our land? But, for goodness sake, hurry! Let's get trouble if you insist upon talking any longer."

"I should say you would," said Whiz, unexpectedly, for the wounded messenger had but spoken a word since they entered the banquet hall. "I wouldn't be in either of your shoes if the Queen loses her temper, and she is liable to if she don't get something to eat pretty soon."

"See! Her Majesty is motioning to you now. Take my advice and go quickly. It seems to me that you don't show much appreciation, boy, for all that Her Majesty is doing for you. You ought to be glad that she honors you."

"Well, I am, but—"

"Never mind any 'buts,'" interrupted Dawdler. "Come on."

There seemed to be the way out of it. Deciding to make the best of what he knew he ought to consider his good fortune, Peter started down the long aisle by the side of Dawdler. The Trumpeter walked in front of them, blowing his trumpet loudly as he went.

"Great Scott!" said Peter to himself as he felt trembling. "If I wasn't the head that wears a crown, the legs that walk the paths of glory are pretty wobbly!"

Next: "The Queen Thanks Peter."

County Fair Racing Attracts Fast Horses

STAKE EVENTS FEATURE OF BIG PROGRAM STARTING WEDNESDAY

Dr. Parshall, Harry Stokes And Other Veteran Trainers Will Show Speeders Here; Four Events Scheduled Daily

By PHIL FRAME

Attention of Ohio fair racing fans will be focused this week on the Southwestern Ohio Shortstaple Circuit harness meet that will feature the 1929 Greene County Fair, where stake racing will again be a feature. There will be three days of the sport, starting Wednesday and continuing through Friday.

Four events are scheduled for each day and from the way the horses have been arriving at the track the last few days there will not be sufficient stable room to accommodate all of them.

Some of the horses which have been racing on the big line, will be seen in action at the fair. Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, of Urbana, shipped his entire stable from Detroit. Counterpart, 2:02 1-4, winner of the American Pacing Derby at Kalamazoo, Mich., meet, is included. Other stars are: Joe Lewis, Dr. Volo, Fairview, pacers; and Lee Hagyard, Velocity, Marian Toddler, Bob O'Boy, Flying Parsons, Senator Worthy and Legality, trotters.

The doctor will be joined at Xenia by his brother, Earl Parshall, with Lauderdale, 2:04; Myloraine and Big Direct, pacers; and Peter Dill, trotter. Before being shipped from Urbana, Myloraine was trained in 2:11 1-4 and Big Direct in 2:12 1-4.

Harry H. Stokes is sending four head in charge of his son, Donald Stokes. The other members of this reinsman's string will be divided between the Cleveland Grand Circuit and the Mansfield night meetings. "Hump" Morrison and other big line reinsmen are expected to be on hand.

Frank Cares of Fremont is already on the scene with three head—Chestnut Axworthy, Azone and Frances the Great, while J. P. Russell and Son, Stevenson, Ala., are here with nine head. J. G. Fross, of Columbus, has the fast pacing mare, Minnie Chan, ready for the work.

The unusually large entry list indicates that perhaps some of the events will have to be raced in two divisions.

The Dayton colony of owners and trainers will be well represented at the Xenia meeting. Perry Roamer has entered his green trotters, Great Binger and Red Silk and the pacer, Slick Direct. E. H. Sellers has named a two-year-old pacer by Peter Pluto in the juvenile event. A. S. James is here with the trotters, Olive Forbes by Malcolm Forbes, Silver Binger by Binger, Worthy Wreath and a two-year-old by Peter Henley, and the pacers, May Montgomery by Peter

Getting Enough

Jack Quinn, Philadelphia Athletic pitcher, who will be 44 his next birthday, is making fans wonder what keeps his joints from squeaking in every pitch he makes. Jack has decided to retire from the game after the end of the present season. If he does, he will have completed 29 years as a twirler, 16 of them in the majors. He has played in 462 games and pitched 2,641 innings. Enough's enough, says Jack.

BOWERSVILLE WINS FROM CHILLICOTHE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Although held to three hits, the Bowersville Bayliffs bunched the trio of safeties with errors to defeat the Mead Pulp and Paper Co. nine at Chillicothe by a margin of 3 to 2 Sunday afternoon.

Chillicothe opened the scoring in the first inning when one down, Worf doubled to center and scored on a single to Keyser. In the third the home team tallied its second and final run when Miller reached first on an error by Flint, was sacrificed to second by Fogleman and scored on another timely single by Keyser. Thereafter, Mercer, Bayliff pitcher, closed the books and Chillicothe failed to again cross the rubber.

Mercer got himself out of a bad hole in the sixth when Keyser, better batter, made his third straight single. Crockett was safe when D. Murrell threw wild. Mercer fanned Shenault but both runners advanced a base when Krauser grounded to second and was thrown out. Then Krug dumped one in front of the plate and was tossed out by D. Murrell.

Bowersville was held hitless until the fourth when two hits produced as many runs. E. Haughey doubled to left. Mercer fanned but N. Murrell was safe when Keyser fumbled his hot grounder. D. Murrell then came through with a single and both runners counted.

The Bayliffs won out in the ninth. With one out, Bowersville singled for the third Bayliff hit of the afternoon. V. Haughey forced him at second, then stole second. On an attempted steal of third the third baseman lost his throw and the runner scored what proved to be the winning counter.

The setback was only the third of the season for the Chillicothe nine. Other defeats were inflicted by the Portsmouth Chevrolets and the Columbus Merchants.

Mercer pitched a steady game for Bowersville, scattering the seven hits he allowed and fanning five batters. Miller, Chillicothe hurler, deserved better luck as he yielded only three hits and whiffed eight batters.

Next Sunday the Bayliffs will entertain the Springfield Park Athletics at 2:30 p. m. Score:

ROPEMAKERS BEAT ROTARY TO RETAIN LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Uncorking a three-run rally in the ninth inning, the Hooven and Allison Co. softball nine retained the leadership of the American League by nosing out the Rotary nine, 7 to 5 Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Rotarians had victory in their grasp and let it slip away after leading the leaders up to the final round.

Rotary opened the scoring by tallying three runs in the first inning. The H. and A. bunched three hits for two runs in the third and scored twice in the fourth without making a hit. Rotary tied it up by marking up one run in the fourth and went ahead with another counter in the fifth. The next three

YANKEES WILL MAKE FINAL FLAG DRIVE; BABE LOOKS BETTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The final desperate drive of the New York Yankees to overtake the Philadelphia Athletics starts today.

Everyone interested in baseball agrees that Miller Huggins' club has but a slim chance of maintaining its prestige as the greatest of modern scoring machines, but only a year ago the present American League pace-makers began a victorious march which nearly carried them to the pennant and made a real contest out of the 1928 race.

Facing the seemingly insurmountable obstacle of a handicap of 11 1/2 games, the Yankees opened their assault upon their rivals' lead in a double-header at the stadium. Then they go to Philadelphia for three games with the Athletics before setting out on a final swing through the west.

The return of Waite Hoyt to uniform, if not to pitching form, and the fact that Babe Ruth is rapidly clubbing his way upwards toward another home run hitting title, heartened the Yanks today.

It was during August of last year that the Mackmen, seemingly as hopelessly beaten as the Yankees look now, whittled away the last of a lead of thirteen and one-half games and overtook the local club early in September.

Should baseball history repeat itself, the two leading American League contenders would be on even terms a month hence.

This time, however, the Athletics, racing along out in front by nearly a dozen games, show no signs of falling into a slump such as beset the New York club last year. Everything favors the Mackmen.

Babe Ruth, who makes the pace for his team, is interested in leading a decisive attack upon the Philadelphia lead, since the Babe's contract expires at the end of the current season, and he wants $100,000 for 1930.

Trailing "Chuck" Klein of the Phillies by eight home runs at present, Ruth, like the Yanks, has quite a handicap to overcome to maintain his reputation as the game's leading slugger. Klein has hit thirty-three homers to date, the Babe twenty-five.

SNOW HILL GOLFERS COMING WEDNESDAY

Snow Hill Country Club golfers of Wilmington will meet the Xenia Country Club in a return inter-city match over the local nine-hole course Wednesday afternoon.

About twenty-five Wilmington players are expected to appear for the match, which will be followed by dinner served by the women's dinner committee at the clubhouse at which the visiting golfers will be honor guests.

Earlier in the season Xenia was defeated by Wilmington over the latter's course by a close score. Since then the Xenia match team has been defeated by Middletown and will be seeking its first victory Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, of Urbana has tentatively promised officials of the Greene County Fair that he will give local fans a chance to see in action the roan wrangler, Counterpart, 2:02 1-4, winner of the $25,000 American Pacing Derby, raced at the Kalamazoo meet.

Counterpart now the leading money-winning pacer stallion as well as record holder of the present season, is a Tennessee product and is eligible for the free-for-all pace. He was bred at Columbia where the late Edward F. Geers made his headquarters for a number of years. Geers gave his sire, John A., a record of 2:03 1-4 while his dam, Hallie Argossee was got by Argos Hal out of Lady Erectress, a mare which also produced Napoleon Direct, which Geers drove to a record of 1:59 3-4. As a young horse while in Tennessee, Counterpart acquired the reputation of an outlaw by running away a few times.

Dr. Hugh M. Marshall, of Urbana, has tentatively promised officials of the Greene County Fair that he will give local fans a chance to see in action the roan wrangler, Counterpart, 2:02 1-4, winner of the $25,000 American Pacing Derby, raced at the Kalamazoo meet.

Counterpart now the leading money-winning stallion as well as record holder of the present season, is a Tennessee product and is eligible for the free-for-all pace. He was bred at Columbia where the late Edward F. Geers made his headquarters for a number of years. Geers gave his sire, John A., a record of 2:03 1-4 while his dam, Hallie Argossee was got by Argos, a half out of Lady Electress, mare which also produced Napoleon Direct, which Geers drove to a record of 1:59 3-4. As a young horse while in Tennessee, Counterpart acquired the reputation of an outlaw by running away a few times.

Finally he was purchased by R. C. McClenathan, of Erie, Pa., and turned over to Ed McGrath, of Reading, Pa., to race. Counterpart made a few starts in 1924. The following year he was seen in the Bay State and Orange County circuits. In his first start at Norwich, Conn., he ran away. At Avon he landed a $5,000 event, while at Endicott he defeated Robert Commodore in 2:06. During the next three years he was bothered with splints and was consigned to the New York sale last fall. Marshall bought him and transformed him into a real racing tool.

Lauderdale, 2:04, by Guy Axworthy, and the property of Dr. Horace Helmsand, Springfield, is seemingly back in his 1926 racing form, as Earl Marshall trained him last Friday afternoon. He came to the last half in 1:01 1-4 and the final eighth in fourteen seconds. Lauderdale started off well last year but was taken sick during the Cleveland meet and was retired. He has been sound rounding into form this season but his performance last Friday indicates he has arrived. His first start will probably be at the Xenia fair.

Trainer William Albin, Springfield, made his first start with his good trotter, The Belmont, at the Wellston fair and finished fifth and third, when rain put an end to the meeting. He shipped to Xenia, where he will lay up over the fair here.

Frank Hedrick, veteran Wilmington reinsman, was among the unfortunate ones at the Wellston fair, failing to land any of his horses in the land. He shipped to Xenia.

An unverified report from Toledo has it that Jim Mitchell, of Mechanicsburg, owner of the pacing mare Becky Beal, 2:04 is quite ill. His mare, which has been lame, is still in no shape to race. Becky Beal lowered the track record at the Xenia fair last year, hanging up a mark of 2:06 1-2 for paces to shoot at this week.

Harry H. Stokes, former Springfield trainer, is going to divide his stable and send six or eight to try for the money at half-mile tracks. While Harry is following the big line through the East, his son, Donald, will be in charge of the small oval brigade and is expected to make his first start at the Xenia fair.

Ed Fargwell, Dayton, former Osborn horseman, won first and second money in the 2:12 pace at the North Vernon, Ind., meet with All Jennings and ExRhea, respectively. The best time was 2:15.

HARNESS CIGARS TO PLAY MIDDLETOWN

Harass Cigars, 1928 city champions, at present in second place in the National League, has completed arrangements to meet Middletown Post, No. 218, American Legion, in an exhibition softball game at 6 p. m. Friday this week at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Definite word that the Middle nine would appear in Xenia Friday for the game was received Monday from H. K. Moore, commander of the post.

The Middletown team is said to be an exponent of softball as it should be played. In other words the Legion team possesses one of the strongest softball teams in this section of the state and has traveled to all parts of Ohio for games this season, recently playing a double-header at Toledo.

The exhibition game Friday will give local fans a chance to view the sport as it is played in other cities.

Jamestown to play Centerville nine

Revenge for a defeat inflicted last season will be sought by the Jamestown Independents in a game booked with the Centerville nine for next Sunday afternoon on the Jamestown diamond. Another close contest is expected.

County Fair Racing Attracts Fast Horses

STAKE EVENTS FEATURE OF BIG PROGRAM STARTING WEDNESDAY

Dr. Parshall, Harry Stokes And Other Veteran Trainers Will Show Speeders Here; Four Events Scheduled Daily

By PHIL FRAME

Attention of Ohio fair racing fans will be focused this week on the Southwestern Ohio Shortship Circuit harness meet that will feature the 1929 Greene County Fair, where stake racing will again be a feature. There will be three days of the sport, starting Wednesday and continuing through Friday.

Four events are scheduled for each day and from the way the horses have been arriving at the track the last few days there will not be sufficient stable room to accommodate all of them.

Some of the horses which have been racing on the big line, will be seen in action at the fair. Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, of Urbana, shipped his entire stable from Detroit, Counterpart, 2:02 1-4, winner of the American Pacing Derby at Kalamazoo, Mich., meet, is included. Other stars are: Joe Lewis, Dr. Volo, Fairview, pacers; and Lee Hagyard, Velocity, Marian Toddler, Bob O'Boy, Flying Parsons, Senator Worthy and Legality, trotters.

The doctor will be joined at Xenia by his brother, Earl Parshall, with Lauderdale, 2:04; Myloraine and Big Direct, pacers, and Peter Dill, trotter. Before being shipped from Urbana, Myloraine was trained in 2:11 1-4 and Big Direct in 2:12 1-4.

Harry H. Stokes is sending four heads in charge of his son, Donald Stokes. The other members of this reinsman's string will be divided between the Cleveland Grand Circuit and the Mansfield night meetings. "Hump" Morrison and other big line reinsmen are expected to be on hand.

Frank Cares of Fremont is already on the scene with three head—Chestnut Axworthy, Azona and Frances the Great, while J. P. Russell and Son, Stevenson, Ala., are here with nine head. J. G. Fross, of Columbus, has the fast pacing mare, Minnie Chan, ready for the work.

The unusually large entry list indicates that perhaps some of the events will have to be raced in two divisions.

The Dayton colony of owners and trainers will be well represented at the Xenia meeting. Perry Roamer has entered his green trotters, Great Ringen and Red Silk and the pacer, Silk Direct. E. H. Sellers has named a two-year-old pacer by Peter Pluto in the juvenile event. A. S. James is here with the trotters, Olive Forbes by Malcolm Forbes, Silver Blingen by Blingen, Worthy Wreath and a two-year-old by Peter Henley, and the pacers, May Montgomery by Peter

Getting Enough

Jack Quinn, Philadelphia Athletic pitcher, who will be 44 his next birthday, is making fans wonder what keeps his joints from squeaking in every pitch he makes. Jack has decided to retire from the game after the end of the present season. If he does, he will have completed 29 years as a twirler, 16 of them in the majors. He has played in 462 games and pitched 2,641 innings. Enough's enough, says Jack.

BOWERSVILLE WINS
FROM CHILLICOTHE
SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Although held to three hits, the Bowersville Bayliffs bunched the trio of safeties with errors to defeat the Mead Pulp and Paper Company at Chillicothe by a margin of 3 to 2 Sunday afternoon.

Chillicothe opened the scoring in the first inning when one down, Wort doubled to center and scored on a single to Keyser. In the third the home team tallied its second and final run when Miller reached first on an error by Flint, was sacrificed to second by Fogleman and scored on another timely single by Keyser. Thereafter, Mercer, Bayliff pitcher, closed the books and Chillicothe failed to again cross the rubber.

Mercer got himself out of a bad hole in the sixth when Keyser, first batter, made his third straight single. Crockett was safe when D. Murrell threw wild. Mercer fanned Shenault but both runners advanced a base when Krauser grounded to second and was thrown out. Then Krug dumped one in front of the plate and was tossed out by D. Murrell.

Bowersville was held hitless until the fourth when two hits produced as many runs. E. Haughey doubled to left. Mercer fanned but N. Murrell was safe when Keyser fumbled his hot grounder. D. Murrell then came through with a single and both runners counted.

The Bayliffs won out in the ninth. With one out, Bowermeister singled for the third Bayliff hit of the afternoon. V. Haughey forced him at second, then stole second. On an attempted steal of third the third baseman lost his throw and the runner scored what proved to be the winning counter.

The setback was only the third of the season for the Chillicothe nine. Other defeats were inflicted by the Portsmouth Chevrolets and the Columbus Merchants.

Mercer pitched a steady game for Bowersville, scattering the seven hits he allowed and fanning five batters. Miller, Chillicothe hurler, deserved better luck as he yielded only three hits and whiffed eight batters.

Next Sunday the Bayliffs will entertain the Springfield Park Athletics at 2:30 p. m. Score: Bowersville.

ROPEMAKERS BEAT ROTARY TO RETAIN LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

Uncorking a three-run rally in the ninth inning, the Hooven and Allison Co. softball nine retained the leadership of the American League by nosing out the Rotary nine, 7 to 5 Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Rotarians had victory in their grasp and let it slip away after leading the leaders up to the final round.

Rotary opened the scoring by tallying three runs in the first inning. The H. and A. bunched three hits for two runs in the third and scored twice in the fourth without making a hit. Rotary tied it up by marking up one run in the fourth and went ahead with another counter in the fifth. The next three

YANKEES WILL MAKE
FINAL FLAG DRIVE;
BABE LOOKS BETTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The final desperate drive of the New York Yankees to overtake the Philadelphia Athletics starts today.

Everyone interested in baseball agrees that the Miller Huggins' club has but a slim chance of maintaining its prestige as the greatest of modern scoring machines, but only a year ago the present American League pace-makers began a victorious march which nearly carried them to the pennant and made a real contest out of the 1928 race.

Facing the seemingly insurmountable obstacle of a handicap of 11 1-2 games, the Yankees open their assault upon their rivals' lead in a double-header at the local stadium with the Washington Senators. Then they go to Philadelphia for three games with the Athletics before setting out on a final swing through the west.

The return of Waite Hoyt to uniform, if not to pitching form and the fact that Babe Ruth is rapidly clubbing his way upwards toward another home run hitting title, heartened the Yanks today.

It was during August of last year that the Mackmen, seemingly as hopelessly beaten as the Yankees look now, whittled away the last of a lead of thirteen and one-half games and overtook the local club early in September.

Should baseball history repeat itself, the two leading American League contenders would be on even terms a month hence.

This time, however, the Athletics, racing along out in front by nearly a dozen games, show no signs of falling into a slump such as beset the New York club last year. Everything favors the Mackmen.

Babe Ruth, who makes the pace for his team, is interested in leading a decisive attack upon the Philadelphia lead, since the Babe's contract expires at the end of the current season, and he wants $100,000 for 1930.

Trailing "Chuck" Klein of the Phillies by eight home runs at present, Ruth, like the Yanks, has quite a handicap to overcome to maintain his reputation as the game's leading slugger. Klein has hit thirty-three homers to date, the Babe twenty-five.

SNOW HILL GOLFERS
COMING WEDNESDAY

Snow Hill Country Club golfers of Wilmington will meet the Xenia Country Club in a return inter-city match over the local nine-hole course Wednesday afternoon.

About twenty-five Wilmington players are expected to appear for the match, which will be followed by dinner served by the women's dinner committee at the clubhouse at which the visiting golfers will be honor guests.

Earlier in the season Xenia was defeated by Wilmington over the latter's course by a close score. Since then the Xenia match team has been defeated by Middletown and will be seeking its first victory Wednesday afternoon.

JEFFERSONVILLE ADOPTS GAS RATE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—The Dayton, Power and Light Co., today advised the public utilities commission that a hearing, scheduled for September 12, on a gas rate schedule for service in Jeffersonville, Ohio, would be unnecessary.

The notification said that on July 1 the city council of Jeffersonville adopted an ordinance setting forth a schedule of rates that the body believed reasonable for the power company to charge. The rates became effective July 17, and this action made the commission hearing unnecessary.

DETROIT ENGINEER WILL REVEAL STORY OF DROWNING CASE

who said they saw what transpired after the two officers halted the Maxine to investigate an alleged violation of the navigation laws.

Heath blamed Sundland's conduct for the trouble which precipitated the struggle.

He said he and his wife were returning from a visit to Canada and as they crossed the international boundary line about 12:30 a. m., a border patrol cruiser came alongside to search their craft for liquor.

Without showing a badge, according to Heath, Sundland entered the cabin where Mrs. Heath had retired for the night. When she asked him to leave the cabin until she got some clothes on, he refused. Wrapping a quilt around herself she withdrew to another room until Sundland had satisfied himself there was no liquor on board.

According to Heath's story, Inspector Larson, waiting alongside in the government boat, ordered Sundland to search the Maxine's equipment instead, Sundland said he would take the boat to the federal base at the foot of Du Bois St.

As they neared shore Heath saw that the officers were changing their course. He demurred, suspecting foul play from the officers. At the Edison dock Inspector Larson went to telephone, leaving Sundland in charge. Heath demanded to see Sundland's badge.

"I'll give you a minute to get out of the boat," Sundland ordered. When Heath refused to step ashore, Sundland swung at him with a blackjack. Heath told his attorney he grappled with Sundland, and they fell into the water.

PARK PLAN DANCING STARTS AT KIL KARE

Park plan dancing will be inaugurated at Kil Kare Park with the regular Wednesday evening dancing party this week, it is announced by Frank Hustmyer, manager.

The club plan, or dinner-dance system was in vogue when the park opened last Tuesday and for the dancing party at the park Saturday evening, and this system is being abandoned for the present.

An admission of ten cents will be charged at the door, women will be admitted free and dance tickets will be sold for four for twenty-five cents. Al Jones and his Band, from Xenia, will furnish the music Wednesday evening and Manager Hustmyer is busy booking a number of out-of-town orchestras to appear at later dates in the season. Dancing is available every Wednesday and Saturday evening.

PAIR ARRESTED FOR TYPEWRITER THEFT

Suspected of having stolen a typewriter which was included in an express shipment to Jamestown, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kefler, Jamestown, are being held in the County Jail pending a further investigation of the case.

Nefles, who is employed in Springfield, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sheriff George W. Benham, of Clark County, and held for Greene County authorities. He was returned to Xenia the same evening by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and Dawson Monaghan, inspector of the special agents department of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., Cincinnati, O.

"I feel pretty much at the end of my rope," he sighed heavily, "I might be on the calling list."

THE FLAT TIRE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY, AUTHOR OF 'MAKE UP' ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

Vivian Matthews, shy and unhappy, and called a "flat tire," believing herself to be a doorstep baby, marries the worthless Hillman Johns III, to help him secure his grandfather's fortune, with the understanding that she is to have a divorce in Paris at the end of the year. But a cyclone wipes their home and business away, and Wall Street sweeps the fortune. Vivian insists upon Kent staying with her in the little Matthews cottage, and when she learns that she is the rightful John heir—the granddaughter of John I., and Kent is an orphan, who lived with her mother's father, and Judge Potter to secrecy, and establishes Kent in business with part of her inherited half million dollars. She is engaged to marry Mann Barkow, famous artist, who has painted her and taught her to fly, when she is free. Kent is to marry his old fiance, who lived with her mother, and returns to New York, and Patricia Sullivan receives a wire from him to the effect that he has secured a part in a show for her. Vivian is jealous.

Only a month of the marriage contract remains.

Kent writes Dovie a lengthy letter.

Vivian flies to Salina to see Celeste and buy a new dress for the dinner at the mayor's house.

At the dinner Vivian is no longer a "flat tire," and Kent marvels at her poise and wit.

Kent learns the truth about Dovie from a Sunday story.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LIV

"There is nothing that could happen to you that would make me say anything else," Vivian took his face in her hands. "Besides, I sort of blame myself for this last blow. I might have saved you from it."

"How could you have saved me?"

"Because," she confessed, then, with difficulty, "I knew about it. Not all of it. But I knew about her being a black mailer."

The phrase sounded so ugly that she regretted it when she saw Kent wince.

"You knew?"

"Yes, Bark knew her in Paris. I made him tell me one day—the day after the New Year's party, when he tried to save me from humiliation by drinking the toast to 'Auld Lang Syne'—remember?"

He nodded gravely.

"I'll give you a minute to get out of the boat," Sundland ordered. When Heath refused to step ashore, Sundland swung at him with a blackjack. Heath told his attorney he grappled with Sundland, and they fell into the water."

"I didn't tell you," Vivian went on, "because I thought you would hate me for gossiping. I knew she had gone so far in making you believe that she could do almost anything with you. Bark, of course, felt he couldn't tell you and was a gentleman about it. It was a difficult position for me to be in."

"I understand," Kent said quietly. "But you are about the only woman in the world who would have been a 'gentleman' about it. I can see now how Dovie humiliated me. A lot of things are clear to me now."

"Well, she did make my blood boil once in a while," Vivian confessed, "but I felt she would hang herself if we gave her plenty of her own rope. People like that usually do."

Kent straightened suddenly, and looked at Vivian. He seemed to be studying—puzzled. Then he smiled gravely.

"Strange as it may seem, I don't think I'll ever care for Dovie again. This—this shock seems to have taken her all out of my system."

Vivian's heart leaped.

"Let us hope, my dear," she tried to make light of the whole thing. "It wouldn't take any more than this to cure you."

"I—I visualize her a long, long time, Viv. Ever since I was a little boy, I can't remember when we didn't play at being lovers. She is the only girl I've ever thought of in that way. Oh, of course," he confessed with a shrug, "I had my little heart affairs in college. But they were mostly just prettiness and do a little heavy loving with under the moon."

Vivian realized, then, that she was sitting on his lap—and she started to get up. He pulled her back.

"Let me hold you a little while, Mamma. I like to have someone with me."

She settled back, with her head on his chest. They were silent for several minutes. She could hear the beating of his big, strong heart, and felt she could never bear the idea of being very far away from him again.

"I feel pretty much at the end of my rope," he sighed heavily, "I might be on the calling list."

breaking the silence. "I feel as though I could never lift my head up in this town again. How am I going to face people after this?"

Vivian raised up and looked at him scornfully.

"So—you are going to let your false pride run away with you—are you? I don't know whose business it is—but yours. And it seems to me you overestimate the interest the world in general will take in it. Who knows that you planned to divorce me and marry Dovie? No one—but the three of us—as far as I know."

He seemed relieved at her logic. But still his face was clouded with uncertainty. She went on seriously:

"Why should a man with your opportunities and your position worry about what people think? You are a very fortunate boy. You've always had money—and a fine old family name—and so much to live for. If you let this get you down you deserve to be a failure."

"Suppose," she said a minute later, "you had lived my life? Suppose you had been in a narrow, helpless little rut for twenty years without friends—seeing nothing ahead of you but more and more years of emptiness? Then, you would know what real sorrow is. Believe me, I know."

Her voice caught—and he held her tightly.

who said they saw what transpired after the two officers halted the Maxine to investigate an alleged violation of the navigation laws. Heath blamed Sundland's conduct for the trouble which precipitated the struggle. He said he and his wife were returning from a visit to Canada and as they crossed the international boundary line about 12:30 a. m., a border patrol cruiser came alongside to search their craft for liquor.

Without showing a badge, according to Heath, Sundland entered the cabin where Mrs. Heath had retired for the night. When she asked him to leave the cabin until she got some clothes on, he refused. Wrapping a quilt around herself she withdrew to another room until Sundland had satisfied himself there was no liquor on board.

According to Heath's story, Inspector Larsen, waiting alongside in the government boat, ordered Sundland to search the Maxine's equipment instead, Sundland said he would take the boat to the federal base at the foot of Du Bois St.

As they neared shore Heath saw that the officers were changing their course. He demurred, suspecting foul play from hijackers. At the Edison dock Inspector Larsen went to telephone, leaving Sundland in charge. Heath demanded to see Sundland's badge. "I'll give you a minute to get out of the boat," Sundland ordered. When Heath refused to step ashore, Sundland swung at him with a blackjack. Heath told his attorney he grappled with Sundland, and they fell into the water.

PARK PLAN DANCING STARTS AT KIL KARE

Park plan dancing will be inaugurated at Kil Kare with the regular Wednesday evening dancing party this week, it is announced by Frank Hustmyer, manager.

The club plan, or dinner-dance system was in vogue when the park opened last Tuesday and for the dancing party at the park Saturday evening, and this system is being abandoned for the present.

An admission of ten cents will be charged at the door, women will be admitted free and dance tickets will be sold for four for twenty-five cents. Al Jones and his Band, from Xenia, will furnish the music Wednesday evening and Manager Hustmyer is busy booking a number of out-of-town orchestras to appear at later dates in the season. Dancing is available every Wednesday and Saturday evening.

PAIR ARRESTED FOR TYPEWRITER THEFT

Suspected of having stolen a typewriter which was included in an express shipment to Jamestown, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Neff, Jamestown, are being held in the County Jail pending a further investigation of the case.

Neffs, who is employed in Springfield, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sheriff George W. Benham, of Clark County, and held for Greene County authorities. He was returned to Xenia the same evening by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and Dawson Monahan, inspector of the special agents department of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., Cincinnati, O.

BRINGING UP FATHER

THE FLAT TIRE
By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY, AUTHOR OF 'MAKE UP' ETC.
© 1929 CENTRAL PUBLISHING INC.

READ THIS FIRST:

Vivian Matthews, shy and unhappy, called a "flat tire," believing herself to be a doornail baby, marries Entworth Hillman Johns III, to help him secure his grandfather's fortune, with the understanding that she is to have one hundred thousand dollars, and a divorce in Paris, at the end of the year. But a cyclone wipes their home and business away, and Wall Street sweeps the fortune. Vivian insists upon Kent staying with her in the little Matthews cottage, and when she learns that she is the right John's heir—the granddaughter of John I. and Kent is an orphanage waif, she swears her mother's father, and Judge Potter to secrecy, and establishes Kent in business with part of her inherited half million dollars. She is engaged to marry Mann Barkow, famous artist, who has painted her and taught her to fly, when she is free. Kent is this girl's fiancée, who jilted him. Bark returns to New York, and Patricia Sullivan receives a wire from him to the effect that he has secured a part in a show for her. Vivian is jealous.

Only a month of the marriage contract remains. Kent writes Dovie a lengthy letter. Vivian flies to Salina to see Celeste and buy a new dress for the dinner at the mayor's house. At the dinner Vivian is no longer a "flat tire," and Kent marvels at her poise and wit. Kent learns the truth about Dovie from a Sunday story. Dovie goes on with the story.

The Theater

The increased number of musical comedy productions brought to Hollywood by the talkies, have caused the reorganization of the chorus so far as that institution was known in Hollywood.

Practically every large studio now has a chorus of between 40 and 100 girls under contract and working continuously. They pass quickly from one picture to another, on the same lot, and spend their spare time rehearsing. They work practically the same hours to the top of the Hollywood pile after she left the stage.

Miss Eaton thinks that when a girl graduates to stardom, she has just started her hard work. "I starred in a Broadway show and came here to be on a vacation," she said. "Every day since I reached Hollywood I've either been before the camera or else studying dancing or singing."

The picture presented in the column today, however, is not Mary Eaton. It is Carol Dempster, screen star, who will be married August 14 to Edwin Larsen, New York investment banker. Thus reaching the ultimate.

Twenty Years '09- Ago '29

A crowd estimated at almost twenty thousand was in attendance at the Greene County Fair Thursday.

One of the largest land deals that has been transacted in this county in ten years was closed yesterday by John W. Prugh, the "real estate man."

For more than an hour today the Strobil airship, making flights at the Fairgrounds, and its pilot, Stanley L. Vaughn, of Toledo, were suspended in two large trees near the main entrance to the grounds.

The lawn fete which was to have been held on a lawn at Spring Valley has been postponed until Saturday, Aug. 7.

every day and the profession generally has reached closer to a workday basis.

In other days chorus girls were chosen as they were needed and usually worked about one out of every four days the year around.

Mary Eaton, who really ought to know since she hoofed her way from the bottom to the top, has some interesting ideas on chorus girls and their work.

She believes that talkies have changed the goal, not only of chorus girls in Hollywood but of the chorus girls all over the country. "Until just recently," she says, "every dancing girl aimed for Ziegfeld's follies. That was the ultimate in a chorus. But now Hollywood offers more opportunity than Ziegfeld's chorus ever did. Dancing and singing girls are at a greater premium than ever and any girl with looks, personality and ability has a chance."

Miss Eaton, who originally came to the screen to be the glorified girl in Paramount's "Glorifying the American Girl," is only one of a great many Ziegfeld players who have clicked in pictures. MEXICO HAS CALLED GEOGRAPHY MEET AT CAPITAL NEXT MONTH

Institute Will Be Assembled On September 16.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—Mexico has just issued invitations to send delegate-specialists in geographical sciences to attend the first meeting of the Pan-American Institute of Geography and History which it is proposed to open in this city on Independence Day, the sixteenth of September of the current year.

This new inter-American scientific association is an offspring of the Sixth Pan-American Conference held at Havana in February, 1928, and was organized at the instigation and suggestion of the Pan American Union. Suggestions made by the Mexican delegates to the Havana conference were accepted in organizing the association such as the quota that should be sent by each country participating in the parley, and other routine and detail matters.

Mexico City was selected at Havana as the permanent seat of the new organization and according to the details discussed and approved at the Cuban gathering, Mexico as the headquarters of the conference is committed to supply a suitable building as the permanent home of the association.

Office in Former Convent
A spacious old building located in the nearby suburb Tacubaya has been designated as the home office of the association. It has been used in the past as the seat of the Direction of Geographical and climatological studies of the Secretaría of Agriculture and because of its special adaptability was deemed particularly suitable for the new purpose it is to be used for. At one time the building was a Carmelite convent and then the seat of an Archbishop. It was used as a fortress when after the war of independence there was considerable unrest in Mexico. During the early regime of the president-dictator Porfirio Diaz it was used as the National military college. Before it can be used for its new purpose it will require considerable remodeling and work in this direction is already under way under the supervision of Pedro S. Sanchez, chief of the Bureau of Geographical and Climatological Studies of the Secretariat of Education. The building is adjacent to that now used as the National Astronomical Observatory.

Coordination, popularization of geographical knowledge and distribution of such among the nations of the Western Hemisphere is the primary object of the new association. It is to serve as a liaison between similar institutions established in Central and South American countries as well as in other nations. The publication of all works which will facilitate coordination in research geography between the countries interested will form part of the agenda to be discussed at the approaching conference. Maps and all information dealing with the American nations will be submitted and approved by the delegates and a collection will be made of all literary and practical works dealing with geography which may be of general interest to all concerned.

Air Derby Entrant

Not to be outdone by her husband, Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy, world's solo endurance flight holder, Claire Mae Fahy has announced her intention to compete in the first national woman's air derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, scene of the national air races.

EXTEND PLANS FOR AIRPLANE SERVICE

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 6.—Surveys and plans are now under way for extending the Cincinnati and Detroit air passenger line to Lexington, Knoxville and Atlanta, it was learned from officials of the Mason and Dixon Lines, Lunken Airport.

The Mason and Dixon line will use tri-motored Flamingoes on its southern extension where landing fields are scarce due to rough, mountainous country.

Construction of the first tri-motored Flamingo is to start soon in the Metal Aircraft Corporation factory, Lunken Airport.

The new Flamingo planes will have seats for nine passengers with several folding seats for extra riders. The planes will have a wingspread of fifty-eight feet and will measure forty-one feet from propeller to tail. They will have three wasp motors, 425 horsepower each. The first plane will probably be completed in a little more than two weeks longer.

LIGHTNING BOB

KRISTINEHAMN, Sweden, Aug. 6.—How lightning performed an involuntary hair bobbing on a woman in Bonneburg, near here, has just been told by the victim, Mrs. Signe Paulstroem.

A heavy thunderstorm passed recently over her house. Lightning struck it and Mrs. Paulstroem was rendered unconscious. When she awoke she found part of her hair burned off by the lightning and her hair pins melted.

CELEBRATE FOURTH FOR NEARLY MONTH

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6.—They celebrate the Fourth of July in the old-fashioned way—over a period of nearly a month—in Caledonia, Marion County, according to a complaint received by Attorney General Bettman.

The complaint came from H. W. and Lola Smith who explained that they conduct a restaurant in that village and would like for Bettman to stop the shooting of giant fire crackers and bombs in the village. "They throw them right at you if you venture outside," said the letter, referring to six-inch bombs. Bettman said he had no power to remedy the situation.

EAST END NEWS

Mr. William C. Jefferson, contractor and builder, E. Second St., returned to Sandusky, O., after spending a few days at home. Mr. Jefferson has the contract for the carpenter work of the Second Baptist Church on Decatur St. The Rev. H. O. Mason formerly of this city, who was also manual training teacher in East High and Lincoln schools is the pastor. The Sandusky Register had this to say of this old historic church which once was a slave solace. "Back in the early stages of the Civil War and for many years before Sandusky was one of the stations on the historical grapevine underground railway system, that of smuggling slaves from the southland, their headquarters were Second Baptist Church. This church is being remodeled at a cost of $2000 and is now well under way. An eighteen-foot addition will be erected at the rear to provide for a new pulpit, pastor's study and choir room. A tower will be added to the front and the entire exterior will be changed. The interior will be re-decorated. The present plans call for improving the parsonage and annexing it to the church.

"This church was founded in 1854 and was an important link in the great chain of freeing the slaves. Many of those who found safety there traveled on to Canada. With more than 200 present members of the church there is only one aged woman yet living who occasionally relates some of the hardships during the early years of this church."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson and son Earl, E. Main St., were visitors at the Miami Valley Hospital Sunday of Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Mrs. Virginia Ray and daughter Evaline of Cincinnati are guests of relatives here. They will remain a few weeks.

Miss Cora Lewis, left this morning for Baltimore, Md., where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Calander, who is a teacher there. Together they expect to visit relatives and friends in New York, Washington and Philadelphia before they return home.

In some things, it may be TASTE—but in insurance, it's PROTECTION!

THE whole theory and practise of insurance is based upon the fundamental idea of protection. In buying insurance, consider protection above everything else. When assured of the protection you need—and not until then—consider the question of cost.

Central Policies stand the test—protection of highest quality—a company absolutely sound—fair adjustments and prompt payment of losses.

Then, considering cost, Central's annual dividend has been 30% for the last eight years. Central's Policies are naturally preferred by the careful insurance buyer.

"The Home of Thrift"

If, as we so often hear and, apparently see, there is a breaking down of time-honored social conventions, of moral restraint, and of habits of thrift and economy, what is the cure?

Probably the re-establishment of the Home to its former importance, and the reinstatement there of the discipline and religious influences that once were more emphasized, will do most to bring about a saner and better citizenship.

Almost any creed is better than no creed at all. Discount Inspiration, if you will, the teachings of the Bible still stand as the best guide to good morals and good citizenship.

Get a home! Establish there more of the discipline and moral impress of yesterday, and you will be doing your part toward halting the abandonment and improvidence that seem to threaten the country's welfare.

MEXICO HAS CALLED GEOGRAPHY MEET AT CAPITAL NEXT MONTH

Institute Will Be Assembled On September 16.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—Mexico has just issued invitations to send delegate-specialists in geographical sciences to attend the first meeting of the Pan-American Institute of Geography and History which it is proposed to open in this city on Independence Day, the sixteenth of September of the current year.

This new inter-American scientific association is an offspring of the Sixth Pan-American Conference held at Havana in February, 1928, and was organized at the suggestion and suggestion of the Pan American Union. Suggestions made by the Mexican delegates to the Havana conference were accepted in organizing the association such as the quota that should be sent by each country participating in the parley, and other routine and detail matter.

Mexico City was selected as Havana as the permanent seat of the new organization and according to the details discussed and approved at the Cuban gathering, Mexico as the headquarters of the conference is committed to supply a suitable building as the permanent home of the association.

Office in Former Convent
A spacious old building located in the nearby suburb Tacubaya has been designated as the home office of the association. It has been used in the past as the seat of the Direction of Geographical and Climatological studies of the Secretariat of Agriculture and because of its special adaptability was deemed particularly suitable for the new purpose it is to be used for. At one time the building was a Carmelite convent and then the seat of an Archbishop. It was used as a fortress when after the war of independence there was considerable unrest in Mexico. During the early regime of the president-dictator Porfirio Diaz it was used as the National military college. Before it can be used for its new purpose it will require considerable remodeling and work in this direction is already under way under the supervision of Pedro S. Sanchez, chief of the Bureau of Geographical and Climatological Studies of the Secretariat of Education. The building is adjacent to that now used as the National Astronomical Observatory.

Co-ordination, popularization of geographical knowledge and distribution of such among the nations of the Western Hemisphere is the primary object of the new association. It is to serve as a liaison between similar institutions established in Central and South American countries as well as in other nations. The publication of all works which will facilitate co-ordination in research geography between the countries interested will form part of the agenda to be discussed at the approaching conference. Maps and all information dealing with the American nations will be submitted and approved by the delegates and a collection will be made of all literary and practical works dealing with geography which may be of general interest to all concerned.

Air Derby Entrant

Not to be outdone by her husband, Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy, world's sole endurance flight holder, Claire Mae Fahy has announced her intention to compete in the first national woman's air derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, scene of the national air races.

EXTEND PLANS FOR AIRPLANE SERVICE

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 6.—Surveys and plans are now under way for extending the Cincinnati and Detroit air passenger line to Lexington, Knoxville and Atlanta, it was learned from officials of the Mason and Dixon Lines, Lunken Airport.

The Mason and Dixon line will use tri-motored Flamingoes on its southern extension where landing fields are scarce due to rough, mountainous country.

Construction of the first tri-motored Flamingo is to start soon in the Metal Aircraft Corporation factory, Lunken Airport.

The new Flamingo planes will have seats for nine passengers with several folding seats for extra riders. The planes will have a wingspread of fifty-eight feet and will measure forty-one feet from propeller to tail. They will have three wasp motors, 425 horsepower each. The first plane will probably be completed in a little more than two weeks longer.

LIGHTNING BOB

KRISTINEHAMN, Sweden, Aug. 6.—How lightning performed an involuntary hair bobbing on a woman in Bonenburg, near here, has just been told by the victim, Mrs. Signe Paulstrom.

A heavy thunderstorm passed recently over her house. Lightning struck it and Mrs. Paulstrom was rendered unconscious. When she awoke she found part of her hair burned off by the lightning and her hair pins melted.

CELEBRATE FOURTH FOR NEARLY MONTH

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6.—They celebrate the Fourth of July in the old-fashioned way—over a period of nearly a month—in Caledonia, Marion County, according to a complaint received by Attorney General Bettman.

The complaint came from H. W. and Lola Smith who explained that they conduct a restaurant in that village and would like for Bettman to stop the shooting of giant fire crackers and bombs in the village. "They throw them right at you if you venture outside," said the letter, referring to six-inch bombs. Bettman said he had no power to remedy the situation.

EAST END NEWS

Mr. William C. Jefferson, contractor and builder, E. Second St., returned to Sandusky, O., after spending a few days at home. Mr. Jefferson has the contract for the carpenter work of the Second Baptist Church on Decatur St. The Rev. H. O. Mason formerly of this city, who was also manual training teacher in East High and Lincoln schools is the pastor. The Sandusky Register had this to say of this old historic church which once was a slave school. "Back in the early stages of the Civil War and for many years before Sandusky was one of the stations on the historical grapevine underground railway system, that of smuggling slaves from the southland, their headquarters were Second Baptist Church. This church is being remodeled at a cost of $2000 and is now well under way. An eighteen-foot addition will be erected at the rear to provide for a new pulpit, pastor's study and choir room. A tower will be added to the front and the entire exterior will be changed. The interior will be re-decorated. The present plans call for improving the parsonage and annexing it to the church.

"This church was founded in 1854 and was an important link in the great chain of freeing the slaves. Many of those who found safety there traveled on to Canada. With more than 200 present members of the church there is only one aged woman yet living who occasionally relates some of the hardships during the early years of this church."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson and son Earl, E. Main St., were visitors at the Miami Valley Hospital Sunday of Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Mrs. Virginia Ray and daughter Evaline of Cincinnati are guests of relatives here. They will remain a few weeks.

Miss Cora Lewis, left this morning for Baltimore, Md., where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Calander, who is a teacher there. Together they expect to visit relatives and friends in New York, Washington and Philadelphia before they return home.

In some things, it may be TASTE—but in insurance, it's

PROTECTION!

THE whole theory and practise of insurance is based upon the fundamental idea of protection. In buying insurance, consider protection above everything else. When assured of the protection you need—and not until then—consider the question of cost.

Central Policies stand the test—protection of highest quality—a company absolutely sound—fair adjustments and prompt payment of losses.

Then, considering cost, Central's annual dividend has been 30% for the last eight years. Central's Policies are naturally preferred by the careful insurance buyer.
